Ford Workers Win Guaranteed Wage

Hitchhiking in Style in London

People lucky enough to hitch a ride on a truck going their way scramble aboard as British transportation is still paralyzed by rail strike. For many others it may mean a long wait home as buses are unable to handle traffic. No settlement is in sight.

Rail Workers Reject Eden's Strike Plea

Ship Stewards' Walkout Adds To U.K. Woes

LONDON (AP)—Britain's striking railway workers today rejected Prime Minister Eden's back-to-work plea.

Their leaders accused the Conservative chief of getting a lot of his facts about the strike wrong. They said his radio appeal did nothing to change the situation in the dispute, now nine days old.

Eden warned in a broadcast Sunday night that the strike of 67,000 locomotive engineers, firemen and engine cleaners is pushing Britain toward an economic smash.

He appealed to the strikers to go back to work, then start negotiations again on their claim for a pay differential.

But Noel Pinches, president of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, told reporters that Eden's appeal "will find no favor" with his union executive.

DIDN'T WORK BEFORE

Pinches claimed his union had already called off one threatened strike on the promise of wage talks which did not reach agreement.

Charles Geddes, president of the mammoth Trade Union Congress with which nearly all British unions are affiliated, also expressed regret at Eden's call for a return to work before talks begin.

"He is forgetting that the strike was suspended by the union to allow discussions to take place and said: 'It is very difficult to ask them to repeat that without some guarantee.'"

Leaders of the striking stevedores union met to debate next step in the costly walkout by 20,000 men which has partly tied up seven seaports for two weeks.

MANY SHIPS TIED UP

The dock strike arises from a jurisdictional squabble for bargaining rights involving the stevedores and the giant Transport Workers Union. Close to 200 freighters are idle.

And a third strike by stewards on four liners has prevented the sailing of 2,000 passengers for the United States and Canada. Tied up are the 35,674-ton Mauretania, the 27,866-ton Britannic, the 19,379-ton Empress of Australia and the 14,440-ton Ascania.

One hundred passengers aboard the Ascania staged a strike of their own Sunday. They said they had spent all their money on their trans-Atlantic passage and refused to leave the ship as requested by the owners.

By today, however, all but five of the emigrants had left the ship. Cunard officials said they were leaving the five "to cool off."

Strike Vote Asked

VANCOUVER (CP)—Application was made today to the Labor Relations Board to hold a strike vote among 250 employees of 10 Vancouver clubs following rejection Sunday of a conciliation board award.

B.C. GAS LINE CHANGES APPROVED IN OTTAWA

OTTAWA (BUP)—The board of transport commissioners today granted Westcoast Transmission Company Ltd. an extension to Oct. 31, 1957, for construction of a $162,000,000 gas pipeline from the Peace River through the interior of B.C. to the U.S. border near Vancouver.

Permission to increase the diameter of the main pipeline from 24 to 30 inches also was given.

Elimination of lateral lines to Kamloops and Vancouver, and of a line from Brookmere to Osoyoos was authorized. Supplying of gas to these areas will be taken over by B.C. Electric and Inland Gas Ltd.

80 Women Descend On Cabinet Members

More than 80 women crammed into the provincial cabinet chamber today to demand immediate government approval of a 50-bed hospital at Surrey in the Fraser Valley.

Sidney Man's Body Found At Cowichan

Body of Frederick Lee Wendell Beers, 51, of 332 Lovell Street, Sidney, was found Sunday morning in the Cowichan River at the village of Lake Cowichan.

According to RCMP the body had been in the river about three weeks. Col. J. H. Boyd, coroner, has been notified, and remains are at the First Funeral Chapel, Duncan, pending an inquiry.

Beers was employed at HMC Dockyard until April 1, and had last been seen May 16 while visiting friends in the Lake Cowichan district.

"The body was found by Steven O'Donohue, of Edmonton, who was fishing in the river and saw the remains on a small island near the village. Surviving are his widow and children at Sidney.

Still missing is Thomas Ross, 45, Victoria painter, contractor, who failed to return from a fishing trip to the mouth of the Cowichan River May 24.

Assessments Cut 2½% In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Assessment Appeal Board today reduced by 2½ per cent the 12½ per cent increase in Vancouver's property assessment for 1955.

The decision, upholding the major portion of the assessment boost ordered by the provincial assessor, will add $312,000 to the taxpayers' burden. Each taxpayer will pay about $5 more this year, a saving of $1 from the original levy.

For the government, the decision will cost $10,000 more than the amount set aside in the budget for education costs here this year.

Plant Moved Down

'Scrap Army' Repercussion

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Campney announced today that Air Vice-Marshal John L. Plant, chief of RCAF Technical Services, has been removed from his present position because of statements he made in a speech at Toronto last Thursday.

He told the Commons that the statements by Air Vice-Marshal Plant "were highly inappropriate."

The air vice-marshal was quoted as saying the army should be scrapped to make more manpower available for a stronger air force.

Also attributed to him was a remark that a world-wide atomic war appears inevitable and that the western powers are "keen, anxious and willing" to go to war against the Russians whenever they want to attack.

"RELINQUISHES" POSITION
Mr. Campney said Air Vice-Marshal Plant has been asked to "relinquish" his position as chief of RCAF technical services. He has been appointed chief of the RCAF's air material command, with headquarters in Ottawa.

The new positions, Mr. Campney said, would remove Air Vice-Marshal Plant from any association with tri-service policy matters.

(AVM Plant, a UBC graduate, is a Victorian. He started his air force career from here. He once commanded the RCAF station at Patricia Bay.)

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Hon. R. O. Campney, minister of national defence, late over the recent rash of statements by high-ranking officers infringing on government policy, has written a sharp directive ordering an end to such breaches of the Queen's Regulations. It is the second such directive in the past year. The first was not sent.

One year ago, when Brooke Claxton was minister of national defence, in June, 1954, a similar directive was prepared when Lt. Gen. Guy G. Simonds made a comment regarding the need for universal military service. The comment was widely reported and raised questions in parliament.

After hearing Gen. Simonds' explanation, Mr. Claxton decided against sending out the directive that had been prepared.

The second directive which Monday was being prepared by Mr. Campney definitely will be sent, informed sources said. The high-ranking air officer made several statements when he addressed the Aviation Writers' Association in Toronto that have aroused members of parliament to demand explanations from the minister.

(1) The speech was a sparkling after-dinner address that had the officer's audience laughing uproariously and which in some sections was designed to be humorous and not taken seriously.

(2) Regardless of the fact the speech was supposed to be humorous the air vice-marshal made statements that had other air force members in the audience perturbed and surprised at their frankness and bluntness.

(3) Majority of the audience was made up of writers from the United States who commented afterwards that the speech was so "witty" that AVM Plant had missed his calling and should have been a humorist such as Bob Hope.

(4) AVM Plant was in the Royal Canadian Air Force uniform of his rank when he made the speech.

WALTER REUTHER ... General Motors next.

"THERE'S A FORD IN GM'S FUTURE," quipped CIO's Walter Reuther today as he began a 24-hour "holiday" before tackling giant General Motors for the semi-annual guaranteed wage plan he won today for Ford's 140,500 workers. CIO contract covering GM's 325,000 auto workers runs out Tuesday.

Esquimalt Butcher Killed in Roof Fall

12-Foot Drop From Carport Roof Fatal To Arthur Luck; Was Helping Brother

A home-building accident Sunday claimed the life of a young Esquimalt butcher, Arthur Luck, 740 Middleton. Losing his footing while helping his brother roof a carport at 240 Grange, he fell 12 feet to a cement floor.

The accident happened at about 2:15 p.m.

Arthur Luck and his brother, Harry, had been working about two hours on the project. Both were at the peak of the carport roof. Arthur apparently stepped back, missed his footing and fell between two open ceiling joists. He landed on his back on a cement floor.

HEAD INJURIES

He was semi-conscious when taken to hospital and died three hours later from head injuries. The accident victim was self-employed as butcher at Field's Grocery, 899 Esquimalt. He had lived here with his mother and sister since 1953. Previously he had a shop at Chemainus.

PLAYED GOLF

The deceased was a member of the Colwood Golf Club and was an ardent golfer. He had played 18 holes on Sunday morning before going to his brother's home.

Born in Hannah, Alta., he was a naval veteran. He was a member of the Legion, Rotary and the Masonic Lodge at Chemainus.

Police said it was not likely an inquest will be held. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Sands Mortuary Ltd.

CNR Fireman Missing

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—A Canadian National Railways passenger train bound from Edmundston to Moncton jumped the tracks near here today and first reports said the fireman was missing in the wreck and 10 persons were hurt.

MONTY GREETS VETERAN

Canadian Pilgrims At D-Day Ceremony

RANVILLE, France (Reuters)—A disabled Canadian veteran of the Normandy D-Day landings 11 years ago was the first man greeted by Field Marshal Lord Montgomery here today following a ceremony marking the anniversary.

After placing a wreath on a memorial cross to airborne troops in Ranville cemetery, Montgomery strode to a wheelchair for a chat with Clair Miller, 38, of Kitchener, Ont.

Miller, a lieutenant in the Highland Light Infantry, landed near Ranville and was later seriously wounded in the spine in fighting on the Scheldt estuary.

He is leading a group of 19 Canadian pilgrims who came to the ceremony via England.

Montgomery, who commanded landings in 1944, paid homage to the 2,000 men buried in the military cemetery only half a mile from where a British glider opened the second front against Nazi Germany.

Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) is conducting a D-Day ceremony in conjunction with sunset ceremonies at the Legislative Building tonight starting at 8:25. The brass band will play a brief concert and the pipe band will beat retreat.

26-Week Maximum In Lay-Off Pay Part of 20c Hike

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Company and the United Auto Workers (CIO), reached agreement today on a guaranteed wage plan and other contract terms.

The settlement was expected to halt widespread walkouts that made idle 68,000 of Ford's 140,000 workers across the United States in the last 12 hours.

The guaranteed wage plan is the biggest ever negotiated in American industry.

It may set the pattern for the entire automotive industry and perhaps other basic industries.

Armed with the Ford agreement the UAW went back to the bargaining table with General Motors today to press for a contract settlement there. The GM contract expires Tuesday.

Walter Reuther, president of the UAW, emerged from a conference grinning and told reporters: "Well, we've got an agreement, fellows. It's a good agreement."

Reuther called it "the largest economic package we've ever negotiated." He said the "package" was worth in excess of 20 cents per hour per employee.

The average auto worker now earns about $2.10 an hour. Reuther said the agreement provides a boost in Ford pensions to a maximum of $241 a month including social security. It also provides better hospital-medical benefits, he added.

"The Ford package contains the principles upon which we are going to build a guaranteed annual wage."

At a joint press conference, Reuther and John Bugas, Ford vice-president for industrial relations, congratulated each other and shook hands.

Bugas said Ford had agreed to go along with the guaranteed wage plans only after "a considerable internal debate" within the company.

"We think it is significant," Bugas said. "We think our plan will be particularly useful in the automobile industry."

Reuther was asked when he intended to enter the negotiations with General Motors. "Well, boys," he said, "I'm going to get a day's rest and then go over to GM."

Bugas said he was particularly "proud" that the Ford agreement had been reached without a strike. He apparently meant a full strike, because some Ford plants had experienced walkouts.

"This has been one of the roughest and most complex bargaining sessions I've ever been in," Bugas said. "But I think, it was well worth it."

As the settlement was announced the UAW sent telegrams to Ford locals around the country asking them to call off any strikes that have begun, or not to go through with any walkouts already planned.

The agreement is subject to ratification by the more than 50 Ford locals.

60-65% of Take-Home Pay Assured

The guaranteed wage plan will provide Ford workers during layoffs with 60 to 65 per cent of regular take-home pay. This will include state unemployment compensation benefits.

Workers will be covered through a maximum of 26 weeks of idleness. Payments will be made from a jointly-administered trust fund. The company will pay into the fund five cents per hour per employee for each of the next three years, the period covered by the contract. This will build up a $55,000,000 fund during the life of the contract.

The company proposed putting up five cents an hour per worker the first year, six cents the second year, and seven cents the third year for the supplemental jobless payments.

In the settlement, it was agreed that these contributions would be only five cents an hour for each of the three years. Reuther said the money thus saved was negotiated for other contract improvements.

The agreement provides that the company will start contributing toward the supplemental jobless payment fund immediately with no payments to be made out of the fund, however, until June 1, 1956. Other provisions of the agreement:

—An increase of one cent an hour in the "annual improvement factor" to six cents for the duration of the contract. These are yearly rises to compensate workers for increased efficiency of men and machines.

Continuation of the cost-of-living wage system, which has governed industry wages for the last five years.

Ford earlier had offered what it called a "partnership-in-prosperity" plan. Promptly rejected by the UAW, this would have given employees an opportunity to buy company stock at half-price, interest-free loans during layoffs, a separation pay plan and other benefits.

Ford's first guaranteed wage plan was embodied in the second offer to the union. This was to supplement state unemployment compensation so that an employee would receive from 60 to 65 per cent of normal take-home pay for a maximum of 26 weeks of idleness.

The UAW had asked for a plan whereby a laid-off worker would get 80 per cent of his take-home pay, including state jobless benefits, starting with the first week and extending longer than Ford's proposed 26-week maximum.

Four Montrealers stowed supplies aboard 26 by 14-foot raft, seen above, today in preparation for departure Wednesday from Quebec City in a bid to sail it to Europe. Adventurers Henri Beaudout, 28, seen at left above; Paul Lapointe, 25; Bernard Sauriol, 24, and Gaston Vanackere, 28, planned to spend their summer vacation aboard craft sheltered only by a six by 10-foot cabin. CPA Trans-Atlantic Flight Party Welcomed At Amsterdam; on Visit to London Today

By RAYMOND ARGYLE
British United Press Staff Correspondent

AMSTERDAM (BUP)—A group of wide-eyed Canadian business and newspapermen rode in a glass-topped launch through the centuries-old canals of this Dutch capital Sunday following their "magic carpet" flight over the roof of the world by Canadian Pacific Airlines.

The group arrived here Saturday afternoon in the history-making flight that saw the "Empress of Amsterdam" airliner soar 4,825 miles in a little more than 19 hours.

A large crowd packed the Schiphol airport outside the capital for the plane's arrival which inaugurated a weekly service between Amsterdam and the Antipodes via Vancouver, B.C. As the Canadians stepped off the plane, the Amsterdam police band played and a group of young Dutch girls sang "O Canada" and the Netherlands national anthem.

Following a reception at the airport the party took in the sights of this ancient metropolis of 900,000. During the reception Amsterdam burgomaster (mayor) J. A. Daully exchanged greetings with CPA president Grant McCann, British Columbia Education Minister Ray Williston and Victoria Chamber of Commerce president Stuart Keate, who presented the mayor with tulip bulbs grown in Victoria from Dutch stock.

The Canadians marvelled at the canals which wind through the city flanked by spotless streets and sidewalks and row upon row of identical apartment and business blocks built wall-to-wall.

Following the Sunday canal tour, the group attended a reception at the home of Canadian Ambassador Thomas A. Stone, near the Hague. The Canadians flew to London today for a four-day visit before going to Paris and returning home.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A four-motored DC-6B touched down at Vancouver International airport Sunday almost one hour ahead of schedule from Amsterdam, Holland.

The aircraft was the one which carried 42 guests of Canadian Pacific Airlines on an over-the-top hop from here to Amsterdam Friday to inaugurate the new trans-Arctic service.

Passengers were carried on the return flight but the host of dignitaries from the inaugural flight will not return until next week.

Bishop Beattie Establishes Residence at Kelowna

NELSON—Rt. Rev. P. R. Beattie, new Anglican bishop of Kootenay, will make his home at Kelowna in the Okanagan Valley, the diocesan executive announced today.

Bishop Beattie's predecessor, the late Rt. Rev. F. P. Clark, made Nelson his see city. The diocese's first bishop, Rt. Rev. A. J. Doull, and its second bishop, Rt. Rev. Walter R. Adams, both resided at Vernon.

Of the 28 Anglican dioceses in Canada, Kootenay is the only one with separate see and synod cities.

By RONALD A. NICKERSON

OTTAWA (BUP)—M. J. Coldwell may relinquish the leadership of the CCF party for health reasons within a few months and go to England to live, a socialist party source said today.

The 66-year-old Coldwell, CCF leader in the Commons since 1940, denied reports some weeks ago that he was about to step down. No mention was made then of any plans to move to England.

But "it's pretty definite now that he'll be going and it could be in a matter of months," the informant said.

Saskatchewan Premier T. C. (Tommy) Douglas, 50, who sat in the Commons from 1935 to 1945, would be the likely choice to succeed Coldwell, the source said. Hazen Arvay, member of parliament for Assiniboia, Sask., since 1945, probably would replace Douglas as leader of the provincial socialists.

Meanwhile, the well-oiled rumor mill on parliament hill was operating at peak load. It produced these unconfirmed reports:

Commons Speaker Rene Beaudoin will not finish out his term, which normally would run about another two years. Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, will name him to a cabinet post, perhaps next fall. Maurice E. Buisson, L.N.C. (Liberal), Charles Arthur Cannon, L.L. de la Madeline, or Bona Arsenaud L.B. Bonaventure will be named to finish out the speaker's term.

Revenue Minister James J. McCann will resign his directorship in a trust company and remain in the cabinet, or he will resign his portfolio and move to the Senate.

Trade Minister C. D. Howe, despite recent oblique denials, will retire to private life before the next session of parliament. Howe's ideas on economic policy and those of Finance Minister Walter Harris, the rising star of the Liberal party, grow more and more divergent every day. Howe recently lost to Harris in a cabinet fight over pipeline policies, and Harris' recommendation to set up a royal commission on the country's economic prospects was endorsed by the cabinet in the face of opposition from Howe.

External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson will succeed Lord Ismay as secretary-general of the North Atlantic Area Organizations.

Health Minister Paul Martin, groomed for the job in recent years, will take over Pearson's portfolio.

Public Works Minister Robert Winters will become minister of trade and commerce after Howe leaves.

All of the present 22 vacancies in the Senate will be filled before parliament's next session. The prime minister will appoint several sitting members of parliament to the upper chamber, as well as a number of the country's leaders in the fields of labor, science and the arts.

Several new parliamentary assistants will be named in the late fall.

The supplementary estimates to be brought down this week by Harris will contain an item covering expenses for the establishment and operations of a royal commission on radio and television. Its job, among other things, would be to determine how the CBC should be financed in future years, whether national broadcasting should be an independent regulatory body, and whether private stations should be allowed to compete freely—especially in the larger cities—with the publicly-owned system.

Solarium's Blitz Drive Needs Helpers

Canvassers of corporations for the Queen Alexandra Solarium Building Fund will be under direction of Victoria Chamber of Commerce vice-president G. F. "Pat" Dunn, it was announced Saturday.

Victoria division chairman, H. B. Elworthy, said meanwhile that fewer general canvassers have been registered than expected for a one-hour house-to-house blitz campaign June 28. The Solarium needs $534,000 to aid in construction of a new children's hospital in the Gordon Head area.

Mrs. Frank L. Dunn, chairman of the house-to-house canvass, has asked 2,000 canvassers.

Volunteers can register by phoning 4-0568 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. and 7 and 10 p.m. Monday to Saturday.

Berry Picking Until Mid-July Predicted Here

Saanich's $162,000 strawberry crop is so late this year that the berry picking, when it does start sometime late next week is expected to continue until after the middle of July according to federal horticulturists.

The strawberries are still mostly in flower, they said, and first pickings of the main varieties, such as British Sovereigns, should begin towards the end of next week on most farms.

Some of the earlier varieties may be on the market a few days earlier, they said.

The week of July 1 is expected to be the peak of the strawberry season instead of June 16 as it has been for the past several years.

Lower than average temperatures in March and April are the reasons why the crop is so late this year.

While the strawberries are late, growers report that conditions so far are favorable for a bumper crop.

TOBACCO MAN SAYS REPORT IS BIASED

NEW YORK (UP)—Timothy B. Hartnett, chairman of the Tobacco Industry Research Committee, urged smokers today not to be "misled" by "sweeping generalities" in a doctors' report on the relationship between smoking and lung cancer.

Hartnett charged that the report released today "ignores important environmental, geographical, occupational, physical and emotional factors affecting disease and longevity."

Hartnett also charged that the questionnaire used contained bias "so great as to make questionable the validity of any conclusions."

D-DAY MARKED TONIGHT BY CANADIAN SCOTTISH

The momentous day in June, 1944, which saw Allied armies pour across the English Channel, will be marked tonight at traditional sunset ceremonies by the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) when it commemorates the 11th anniversary of D-Day.

The regimental brass band will arrive at the Legislative Buildings first and play a brief concert at 8:25, while a color guard and pipes and drums in full dress march to the lawns to carry out their retreat ceremony.

At 9:10 the Canadian ensign will be lowered from the large flag staff near the Cenotaph and handed over to an RCMP constable for safekeeping.

The unit will march off at 9:20 and return to the rear of the old post office building on Wharf for dismissal.

Quebec Tories Will Go It Alone

(From CP and UP)
QUEBEC—Progressive Conservative delegates from 27 Quebec ridings began making plans Saturday for the next federal election, but turned down a suggestion that the party unite with the CCF and Social Credit parties to overthrow the Liberals. Some 500 representatives from ridings east of Trois-Rivieres attended the meeting, the first by the party to prepare for the next election expected in 1957.

The suggestion from amalgamation with other opposition parties came from Raymond Maher, Conservative candidate who opposed Prime Minister St. Laurent in Quebec East in the last federal election. He urged the party follow the example of Premier Duplessis, who absorbed smaller parties to form his Union Nationale government in Quebec.

Maher withdrew the recommendation, however, after being told it was against party policy as outlined recently by leader George Drew.

Drew told the convention Saturday that the bed-rock principles of confederation can be preserved only "if the provinces retain control over the finances necessary to carry out their heavy obligations."

"I believe in change, where change is necessary," he told the annual meeting of the Quebec district Progressive Conservative Association. "But there are fundamental principles which do not change."

"Never will I agree to the invasion of those rights. Never!" he repeated.

The paramount issue in Canada today, Drew said in his first speech in the province since his winter-long illness, is whether "we are going to retain our federal system or move step by step toward unitary government."

New Statistics on Lung-Cancer Link Death Incidence to Number of Cigaretts Smoked

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Men who quit smoking cigarettes probably cut their risk of dying of lung cancer compared with men who keep on smoking, the American Cancer Society reports.

Its study found the cancer death rate among a group of ex-smokers only one-half that of smokers.

But society officials said that due to the small numbers of smokers and ex-smokers involved it cannot be "proved beyond reasonable doubt" that quitting reduces the risk of lung cancer. More evidence was needed.

This is a main finding in the latest report of a continuing ACS study of nearly 190,000 men, aged 50 to 70, their smoking habits and what they die of.

FINDINGS CRITICIZED

Timothy V. Hartnett, chairman of the tobacco industry research committee, said the ACS study "does not establish any cause-and-effect relationship."

Just a year ago the first report, indicating that cigarettes play a role in lung cancer, was announced by Drs. R. Cuyler Hammond and Daniel Horn, director and assistant director of the ACS's statistical research, at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association. It covered 20 months' time and the deaths of nearly 5,000 men.

Today's report at the opening of the AMA's 1955 session covered 32 months and deaths—from whatever causes—among more than 8,000 men.

RARE AMONG NON-SMOKERS

Some highlights: Lung cancer is rare among men who have never smoked.

The death rate from lung cancer increases with the amount of cigarettes smoked. The rate is appreciable even among men who smoke less than 10 cigarettes daily.

Regardless of whether men live in big-city or rural areas, the rate is high among smokers and low among non-smokers.

Among men who smoke two packs or more daily, heart disease is the most common cause of death and lung cancer is second. In these men, lung cancer accounts for one in eight deaths.

In the general male population of this age, lung cancer accounts for 1 in 30 deaths. Among these heavy smokers, lung cancer outranks accidents, brain strokes and other causes of death to take second place.

Pipe-smoking "appears to be associated with lung cancer"—but far less than cigarettes.

Cigar-smoking still does not show any significant association with lung cancer, in this study.

For the tobacco industry committee, Hartnett said "It is obvious that cancer authorities realize no link has been proven and do not accept this study in statistics as the answer to the lung-cancer problem."

Detailing their analysis of the ACS study, Hammond and Horn said:

Among the ex-smokers—those who at the start of study three years ago said they had quit smoking—the death rate from lung cancer was 14 times as high as among non-smokers.

But it was only half the rate as among men who had kept on smoking even less than a pack a day of cigarettes.

For "very light" ex-smokers, the lung-cancer-death rate was about the same as the rate among men who had never smoked.

"It seems probable," they said, "that even after years of regular cigarette smoking, giving up the habit may result in a reduction in the risk of developing lung cancer," but more cases are needed for detailed analysis.

$200,000 Fire Guts Homes for Kitimat

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—

Hundreds of pre-fabricated homes intended for the multi-million-dollar Kitimat project in northern B.C. were destroyed by fire here Sunday.

The homes were only part of the construction materials, trucks, electrical fixtures and other equipment destroyed when a $200,000 blaze swept through the Hullah Construction Co. here.

The early-morning fire, spotted by a resident, kept firemen battling for four hours before bringing it under control.

Firemen said the layout of the large warehouse-type shed aided the fire. The building had only partial walls and a roof, and the wind was drawn in to fan the flames.

Company officials said it was hoped the plant would get back into operation shortly.

The fire-marshal here has announced he will hold an investigation into the blaze today.

$100,000 Suit Over Vaccine

Oakland Parents Sue Cutter After Boy Contracts Polio

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Judge A. J. Woolsey Saturday authorized the parents of a boy who contracted polio after inoculation with Salk vaccine to file a $100,000 damage suit against Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Fitzgerald needed court permission to file the action on behalf of Ronald James Fitzgerald, 4.

Mrs. Fitzgerald, a nurse, vacinated her son April 18 with vaccine obtained at a drug store. It was produced by Cutter Laboratories. Ronald developed polio symptoms April 25 and still is confined at Children's Hospital.

The United States public health service ordered Vaccine manufactured by Cutter Laboratories withheld from public use after several children inoculated with it some weeks ago developed polio.

Shots Blamed for Idaho Outbreak

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Some evidence pointed today to faulty vaccine as the possible cause of a polio outbreak in Idaho, which reported Sunday its sixth death of the year from the disease.

Dr. Louis P. Gebhardt, a University of Utah physician and bacteriologist who led the tests in Utah, Colorado and Wyoming during the field trials of the Salk vaccine last year, reported on tests "which as far as we can interpret" showed "probably a very, very small amount of live virus" present in samples of the vaccine made by Cutter Laboratories and used in Idaho.

In Washington, the United States Surgeon General, Dr. Leonard Scheele, said on a TV-radio interview (NBC's "Meet The Press") that with proper techniques live virus should not get into the vaccine, but he was unable to give any report on Dr. Gebhardt's findings until the full report was received.

Passed Government Safety Tests

In Berkeley, Calif., Cutter issued a statement saying all its lots had passed government safety tests before shipment.

The statement said that if the Gebhardt findings are confirmed, "it will be evidence of the need for the new more stringent safety tests established last week by the service."

Scheele said on the TV-radio program the procedures will make the vaccine "as safe as science" can make it.

Idaho's sixth death from polio was Mrs. Annabelle Nelson, 33-year-old mother of two, who died of bulbar polio Sunday. She had not been vaccinated but her two children had been.

by the National Institutes of Health.

Dr. Gebhardt said:

1. No live virus was found among samples of the vaccine when tested directly by placing it in a tissue culture.

2. Susceptible monkeys injected of the two lots used in Idaho showed no signs of polio. Four monkeys were used.

3. One of four monkeys injected with samples from the other lot died of polio 14 days after injection.

4. Two other monkeys injected with portions of the spinal cord from the killed one contracted with paralysis.

5. Type 1 virus was isolated from portions of the spinal cord of the killed monkeys after placing them in tissue cultures.

Dr. Gebhardt said he has tested other Cutter vaccine used in Utah and Idaho and found it safe.

Her case raised Idaho's total polio cases to 78 for the year—more than five times the number at this time last year.

No Trade for a Long Rifle

CANADA'S DISTINGUISHED engineer, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, has once again drawn attention to British Columbia potentialities which could be destroyed if prudent use is not made of water power in this province.

He sees a "reasonable prospect" of the Lower Fraser Valley becoming one of the best industrial areas in the world because of the vast power projects that can be built from our rivers, lakes and the topography which surrounds them.

His opinion lends further weight to the argument that no hasty deals should be undertaken with American concerns and that, because the southeastern part of the province appears to have a surplus of power for present needs, no commitments should be made which might prejudice future B.C. development.

The power situation as it exists in British Columbia and in the northwest States is generally understood. The latter, which have built huge industrial enterprises on the foundation of cheap power, now find their supply running low. It can be re-established only by supplementary power or controlled water supply—the raw material of power—from Canada.

The point seems abundantly clear that if more cheap power is not available in the Pacific Northwest States, new industries which depend upon it will have to look elsewhere for sites in which to establish themselves.

And in the Lower Fraser Valley there are, says Gen. McNaughton, "reasonable prospects" for the development of one of the best industrial areas in the world.

Why, under these circumstances, should any action be taken to endanger such development? Can deals be justified merely for the return of a quick dollar?

Gen. McNaughton has also pointed to the efforts made by the United States to acquire the water or the power from Canada under the best terms possible to the United States. That is a reasonable and a natural policy for our neighbors to follow.

At the same time it would be folly on Canada's part, or British Columbia's part, to trade under any but the most favorable terms for this province and this nation. And the major reward for power surely must be the establishment in this country of the type of industries which have added so greatly to the economic stature of our immediate neighbors.

There is no suggestion here that Canada should adopt a dog-in-the-manger attitude on its rivers and lakes. But neither can the country or province afford improvident deals.

At one time a fur trader could acquire a pile of pelts as high as the long rifle he offered the natives in trade. That day is gone—both for the fur trader and for the interests seeking new cheap power. For hydro wealth, B.C. and Canada want something better than a long rifle.

Free-Drug or Drug-Free Areas

ROBERT CURRAN, OTTAWA legal advisor to the Canadian department of national health, has informed a U.S. Senate committee investigating narcotics that its Canadian counterpart is opposed to legal distribution of drugs.

This is not, of course, the official pronouncement of the Canadian committee. It is interesting nevertheless in view of the frequent arguments advanced by medical men for clinical distribution.

Mr. Curran's play on words, that you have either "free-drug areas or drug-free areas," is excellent semantically. But the problem seems to run a little deeper than semantics.

If his report of the Canadian committee's opinion is correct—that it is opposed to legal distribution—then two alternatives arise. Either Canada has no distribution or it has illegal distribution.

For a great many years the authorities have tried to prevent distribution. As events have shown they have succeeded only in creating an illegal drug traffic. And that illegal traffic fattens ghoulies who prey on the addiction of those under the heel of narcotics. Because the trade is illegal, the prices are fantastically inflated. The addict usually cannot raise sufficient funds by legal means to purchase his black-market supplies and often turns to crime or vice to get the money he needs to buy his drugs.

That, many informed people think, is the most vicious and most harmful feature of the narcotics trade.

The Canadian committee members have heard informed opinion from a great number of experts. Inquiries have been exhaustive. If they report as Mr. Curran says they feel, it is to be assumed that the decisions they reach and the recommendations they make will be based on a wealth of knowledge. They may be able to do what the Ottawa legal adviser suggests—create a drug-free area. Canadians will hope they can. Citizens are willing to be shown.

But in the wearying years in which this country has tried to cope with the problem by refusing legal distribution, the public has not been shown yet.

Saanich and the Price of Health

SAANICH COUNCIL HAS ACTED wisely in deciding to seek information from deputy health minister Dr. G. F. Amyot and others on the question of joining a metropolitan health organization.

The amalgamation of municipal services in this field is not a new suggestion. It dates back before the war. Arguments in favor of such a union have been presented on many occasions. Chief among them has been the submission that a combined operation by a metropolitan board promises more efficient service and equipment and highly competent staff members whose work would be closely integrated. In former years, too, the point has been stressed that communicable disease recognizes no municipal boundaries. Neither should the forces set up to combat it.

Reeve Casey has opposed the amalgamated health scheme on the grounds that it would probably cost Saanich more money. Conceivably it would. But providing any service for the increasing population is going to cost more money, whether services are amalgamated or not.

The results of the recent assessment equalization in that municipality should also claim the attention of the reeve. Justifiable as are many of his protests against the increased load thrust on the Saanich taxpayer, one feature cannot be ignored. The load has been increased because Saanich formerly did not carry its full share. As more and more citizens establish homes in that municipality the need for more adequate services—with costs rising accordingly—is going to be increasingly apparent. What applies in general, applies specifically to health.

It is to be hoped Dr. Amyot, who has previously spoken in favor of a metropolitan health district, will address his words to receptive ears when he speaks to the council on that subject.

Warmth in the Greeting

AN ESTIMATE BY PROVINCIAL tourist authorities that as many as one and one-half million visitors may come to British Columbia this year raises the question of just what kind of a welcome we are prepared to give them.

If this community is to consider the "visitor industry" as one of its major sources of income, then obviously it will be to the advantage of everyone if we extend a warm and friendly hand to our neighbors from the south. Queerly enough, it seems to be the little things that most impress a visitor, and send him away singing praises or issuing the warnings.

The way he was treated in a shop, the helpful directions he got from a passerby, the courtesy of a bus driver, the hotel clerk who remembered his name—these are the trivial incidents that sum up for many tourists the pleasure of their stay. And what do they amount to? Merely the exercise of politeness and neighborliness that would be extended to any friend. A beautiful city will attract visitors; a friendly city will bring them back.

If we want them, let's encourage them. It's one way everybody can help.

BY DAVID BROCK

A WEEK or two ago there was a news item from Manchester about a buxom Englishwoman of 47 who was told she could not enter Canada as an immigrant until she got her weight down from 178 pounds to 164. She is 5 foot 7 inches tall, and a woman of that height who weighs 178 is considered unhealthy and therefore a bad risk as a citizen. Now, I am all for excluding persons who are apt to bring various diseases into the country, or of the perils of myself or of their own children.

Similarly, I am not especially eager to have Canada importing new chums who are almost certain to go straight from the immigration wharf to a mental hospital or a home for incurables. But as for mere weight and its probable consequences, I am by no means certain.

I hope we are not going to exclude fat chefs and fat landlords. If we breed a race of emaciated chefs and innkeepers, we are going to increase the bad health of their victims, that's what. It will be the worst day in the history of the Minister of Health... a department with some bad days behind it and some bad days ahead of it, civilization and progress being the sickly stuff they are. And there are a lot of other fat people we should welcome besides those who feed us.

WHENEVER I die, because of being too thin, there will flash through the worn channels of my brain a million regrets. And not least of these will be my sorrow at never having been able to ask the late G. K. Chesterton if he considered himself a bad and useless citizen for being fat. Never mind, perhaps I can ask him in heaven. And together we can ask the same question of the enormous shade of Dr. Samuel Johnson, who can pass the joke along to one of the funniest ghosts in the whole place, the Titanic and spherical shadow of Thomas Aquinas—Thomas, who was one of the most useful citizens in history, and who was so grotesquely fat that he could not reach a straight-sided altar with his hands. He needed a special altar with a bay or harbor let into it, like the U-shaped slips made for rounded-off ferries. How he and an immigration officer would enjoy chatting with each other! They would surprise each other a lot.

SPEECH, SPEECH! I AM not very fond of debates and debaters. Perhaps it is because I am very sensitive to pain. But I have just invented a new use for debating. When a child of twelve or fourteen shows a tendency to disagree with all orders, requests, suggestions, and plain statements of fact, you could do a lot worse than ask him to stand up and give a short speech in support of his case. It is remarkable how silly some of his claims will sound when prefaced by the simple opening "Ladies and gentlemen..."

GEOGRAPHY

IF you want a far-fetched example of the cockeyed association of ideas, I can supply you with a dilly. When one of my daughters was small she had some difficulty with pronunciation. For example, she pronounced nearly all Y's as L's. As a corrective exercise, I would get her to say "Yonder is a yellow youth, he is a lanky Yankee," and this would usually come out as "Londer is a lellow louth, he is a lanky Lankee." This used to get on my nerves. Though not so badly as an exercise in say ST—, which would come out as "The ticky famps are tuck on the tair to the tudy," with every initial S missing.

Well, the word "yellow" and the word "Yankee" got inextricably associated in this child's mind, and if she one day has doubts about the gallantry of the American (whom her father likes and admires), it will be her father's fault.

IN the meantime, she is studying the geography of China. And she has got hopelessly mixed between the Yellow River (which is of course the Hwang-ho) and the Yellow Sea and the Yantze River. As far as she is concerned, all these three things are just one thing, and its name is the Yankee Sea. And it is called the Yankee Sea because it is full of mud that is loose and yellow, she says. It sounds as if she has been listening to Communist propaganda. Her teachers would never believe that it all began with "Londer is a lellow louth."

Never mind, she isn't half so mixed about China as is her twin sister. Her sister asked me "What is this stuff called millet that the Chinese can't stop eating?" It says here that 1,400 people will stand on one acre and eat millet for a day. To make her lessons real, I stepped into the kitchen and fetched some birdseed. "See these little specks of grain? They're millet," says I. And as a result she was able to tell her sister, "The Chinese in the north live almost entirely on birdseed."

IT'S THE THOUGHT

SINCE this seems to be the Children's Hour (not counting the first item about fat immigrants who can never be jockeys), let us have another children's item. Some children I know were going to a birthday party, given by the daughter of a moneylender, and their mother asked their father what would be an ingenious and suitable gift, and the father said, "How about a promissory note?"

PEN-PAL

I am writing this letter to you with a request to publish it in your esteemed paper. It is my great desire to have some pen-pals in Canada with whom I can correspond on various subjects concerning life, day-to-day developments and prospects in Canada.

As a matter of fact I am an intending immigrant from Pakistan and would very much like to correspond with those who can afford to spare some time for correspondence on the subject. This can, of course, help me to understand various aspects of life in Canada before my actual arrival there.

At present I am staying in Tokyo and will be here for some more years to come. My age is 30. All letters received will be answered.

SWEET-TOOTH

Regarding an article which appeared in the press lately under the heading, "The Doctor's Viewpoint," I should like to dispute the statement that it is "beyond a mother's talents" to keep harmful sweets away from children.

I have been doing just that with my own four children between four and fourteen for a year now and I am sure that they don't feel unhappy about it.

They know that such things as candy, pop, ice cream, white flour and white sugar are bad for them and even the four-year-old is glad to substitute healthy sweets and energy-givers, such as honey, dates, raisins, nuts, etc. They have discovered that these things are just as delicious as harmful sweets.

Surely it must be a more logical and constructive attitude, realizing, as everyone does, that these things are harmful, to try and educate parents and children to the point where they can do without them, than to let them eat them, hoping that some chemical will counteract the bad effects. To me, such education should be a doctor's first duty. Let us have more effort put into preventing disease.

MODERN ART—BAH!

What makes me boll is modern art, critics and the Seven Syndicates who rule the roost. They give the public the opinion that it knows nothing about art. I'm beginning to think it is the other way around.

Tretchikoff's painting shows real talent and skill. And some people call him a sign painter and commercial advertiser.

As for modern art, it takes no talent or skill or brains. There are some very good artists here, among them Mrs. H. Moorhouse who does beautiful scenery and lovely colors; Mr. Pitt water colors, and Peggy Walton Packard, portraits. Down with modern art.

Time to Become Victoria, Wash.?

The time appears to have arrived for the citizens of Lower Vancouver Island to take stock of the hard facts of their geographic and economic situation.

This city, in spite of its status as capital of the province, has been all but completely left out of the postwar economic boom. The population has admittedly increased and the resulting building boom has lent an air of prosperity to the scene.

The prosperity is probably almost entirely fictitious, as a recession of any dimensions would swiftly demonstrate. We have been taking in each other's economic washing. Light industry, the life blood of a city such as ours, has not been moving to the city. There is an increasing paucity of jobs for our young people. We are simply too far from the bulk of Canadian population to realize to the full our potentialities as a vacation area.

As a Canadian city we are off the main stream of commerce that runs from Halifax to Vancouver. Nanaimo is on a logical extension of that stream and is prospering accordingly. It is easy to blame the CPR and other transit companies for our dilemma. These companies, though, are motivated by the hard economic facts of life and are not likely to reverse their present policies. Under the circumstances no other company is apt to rush to the rescue.

The facts of the case seem to indicate that Vancouver Island, south of the 49th parallel, and the Gulf Islands belong with the State of Washington. As a U.S. seaport, sixty miles nearer the open sea than Seattle, this city could hardly help but regain its once important port status.

The Message From Asia

BY JOSEPH ALSO P. From Washington

ASIA is the vulnerable flank of the United States and the free world. That sentence would be this reporter's choice, if he were asked to compress into one sentence all the innumerable observations and impressions of a six months' journey in Asia. If Asia is our vulnerable flank, moreover, it follows that almost all the developments that are now thought to be so hopeful are mere local and temporary gains.

The freeing of Austria, for instance, is being hailed as the beginning of a new era of international relations; but there is no reason to suppose, as yet, that it is anything of the sort. To be sure, the Soviets would never have freed Austria if immense progress had not been made on many fronts, in reinforcing Western Europe against Communist pressures. But precisely because of this progress that began with the Marshall Plan and ended with German rearmament, Europe is no longer the place to look for signs of a new era's dawn.

The leaders of world communism are not a pack of fools. They will not order a desperate frontal attack on a strongly fortified flank, if there is a naked, unprotected flank by which the whole position can be taken. Asia is that flank. If there is any hope of peace between the free and Communist worlds, the place to look for signs of peace is in Asia. As of today, unfortunately, no such signs are in sight.

WILLING TO TALK In the hope of getting what they want without the bothersome risk of fighting for it, the Chinese Communists have of course declared their willingness to talk about the situation in the Formosa Strait. But there is no lot or titlle of evidence that the Communists will not attack the offshore islands in the end, if the Eisenhower administration does not succeed in giving them Quemoy and the Matsus as a present.

And if the administration succeeds in making this handsome present to Peiping, there is no lot or titlle of evidence, either, that the Communists will not then proceed to prepare an early attack on Formosa proper. Possession of Quemoy and the Matsus will make this possible, and Peiping's claim to Formosa has never been abandoned or abated.

Furthermore, this local, predominantly military situation in the Formosa Strait is far less important, except as a symptom, than the political-military situation in Southeast Asia. It may be heresy to say so, but the United States and the free world could well afford to lose Formosa if we could be sure of losing nothing further.

Unfortunately, however, much more serious losses probably lie ahead in Southeast Asia, and in Southeast Asia, the danger is more complex than in the Formosa Strait.

At the bottom of the Southeast Asian problem, of course, there is the vast and increasing military power of communist in Asia. The weak Korean truce that the Eisenhower administration granted a China strained to the breaking point, in effect insured that all Asia would be indefinitely overshadowed by the huge army and large air force of the Peiping government.

The Geneva-Munich added to the calculation another twenty divisions, which the Communist dominated Viet Minh are now whipping into shape in Northern Indo-China.

But in Southeast Asia, it is the mere threat of Communist military power, rather than the direct application of Communist military power, that creates the primary problem. If affairs in Southern Indo-China develop as badly as seems likely, even American policy must be expected to be semi-paralyzed by the menacing existence of twenty Viet Minh divisions in the north. The weak states of Southeast Asia are infinitely more likely to succumb to this kind of paralysis by unspoken military threat.

If these Asian nations had already found themselves, threats would shake them far less. But only Burma is even beginning to find herself. All are disorganized. All are open to infiltration.

INTERNAL WEAKNESS

In all large groups of the population are waiting to see which way the bandwagon is going. This internal weakness is in turn exaggerated by the threat of Communist military power, and so the Communists have the opportunity of repeating Joshua's stunt under the Walls of Jericho.

SEATO is no answer to this danger. Yet the danger must be met somehow, for the kind of chain reaction of triumphs that the Communists can now hope for in Southeast Asia, will surely beget an even more disastrous chain reaction in less remote parts of the world.

In Japan, which President Eisenhower has officially proclaimed "an American bastion," the writing is already on the wall. The betting is far better than even that a Communist triumph in Southeast Asia will be quickly followed by the rupture of the Japanese-American alliance. And similar effects will surely be observed in India and the Middle East, in troubled Africa, and even in Europe.

That is the perspective that opens out in Asia today. If the famous meeting at the summit does not produce some means of closing that perspective, it will have produced little of lasting value. Copyright, 1955, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.

I have never grown out of poking in pits and ponds. They can be full of interest even when they are half choked with old tins, boots and bicycles. Some rather nice mosses grow on old boots, in time. Glass jars and bottles in shady pits become hatcheries for ferns; last summer I came upon hundreds of beautiful ferns growing out of wine bottles and pickle jars littered over the bottom of a pit in mid-Norfolk. —Edward Ellis, well-known Norfolk naturalist.

Panic

HURRAY! It's the mailman. Don't you hope he's brought you something nice to cheer a morbid Monday morning?

What's this? A bill? How dreary! But, after all, it's still the beginning of the month.

Are you going to open it? Or are you going to be weak and stick it on the window-sill, behind the kitchen clock?

That's right, brave girl. Face the music, the way you were taught in your youth. But steel yourself. It's bound to be high this month. Maybe as high as $50.

Good grief! How ghastly! It's $73.26.

It couldn't be. They must have made an error somewhere. Let's add it up feverishly. 8 & 6 & 1 & 4 & 7 etc.

No, the darn thing's right. Well, they must have charged you for something you didn't get. Let's check it through. I bet we'll catch them out.

What's this? Balance Forward $18.43. Ha! You've got 'em right there. You paid that bill. You know it. Flip through your cheque stubs. You'll find it in a second. Then you can send them a nice little note, pointing out their error. Won't you feel smug?

Here are the cheque stubs—phone electricity, water, fuel, groceries, dentist and medical insurance.

It isn't here? Let's look again. Maybe the stubs stuck together. Phone, electricity, water fuel etc.

What? You remember now? You picked the bill out of the box on your way into town and used it for a shopping list.

That was very muddy and careless. You should have been able to keep your head even if you were late and in a rush and little L was fussing about his visit to the dentist, and M was talking about the football game, and Ted was grumbling about a valve-grind, and D was asking why tomatoes don't have kittens. If you can't keep six threads of thought and conversation disentangled, then you're losing your grip, my girl.

Well, back to this bill of yours. Maybe they've included things you didn't buy.

HARDWARE. That's the lunch kit, and the towel rail to replace the one the kids broke when they were playing Muscle Men in the bathroom.

NOTIONS. That seems an awful lot. Just a bunch of little things? I know, safety pins and needles and thread and tape and shoe-lace and darning wool. Two pairs of shoe trees? (You'll never get the kids to use them!) Yes, I agree. You have to have all those things in the house. It's so silly and so sloppy to rush, panting, to the corner store every time you need them.

FURNISHINGS. That was the little mat for the hall. Yes, I was there when Ted told you to get it. Remember what he said the last time he tripped over the one you had before? Isn't it shocking how mad they get?

MEN'S WEAR. Well, that must be the gabardines which are through already at the seat. And that's the other pair of synthetic stuff which has rubbed up into a strange, wild fuzz.

The pajamas? My dear, the kid's legs couldn't have grown six inches in six months. All his pants suddenly look like pedal pushers? How do you do exaggerate.

Well, do you really want to go through the rest? The shoes, and the stationery and the summer ankle socks?

Because there's no getting away from it. You DID buy all those things.

Good-luck when you tell Ted tonight!

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Cirrhosis of the Liver

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Many persons want to know the cause of cirrhosis of the liver. In the old days we doctors used to think it was due usually to the taking of too much alcohol, but today we know that probably a commoner cause is a hepatitis or inflammation of the liver which destroyed most of the liver cells. Such a hepatitis is due to a virus, and the disease may have been accompanied by jaundice, fever and lack of appetite.

The liver cells are something like the tail of a lizard—they can regenerate, and make a new liver. The only trouble is that they often don't do a very good job of the re-building. They make a liver that is put together so without system or design that it cannot function very well. It makes me think of an apartment house which, after being gutted by fire, was rebuilt by the tenants, each man of whom built to suit himself, without any effort to hook up the plumbing and electricity with the old pipes and conduits.

Naturally, people suffering from cirrhosis want most to know how it can be cured. What is sad is that, in many cases, very little can be done because the physician can't get into the abdomen to build a new and well-designed liver. The old one is all criss-crossed with scar tissue. So far as I know there is no very good treatment either with diet or drugs.

What is fortunate is that, often, a person can settle down to live very comfortably with only a little of his old liver left. I remember a man who could be shown by tests to have only a small, much-scarred-up liver—about as big as that of a child. But I knew him for years and he was big and husky and had no complaint to make about his health.

VARICOSE VEINS

Hundreds of thousands of persons complain of varicose veins of the legs, and want to know what to do with them. Experts differ as to just what should be done, but I think today most of them are taking out the largest veins and perhaps are tying the big veins in the groin. This causes the blood to go through the deep veins which are supported by the muscles of the leg and thigh.

Many persons ask, how about injections of the veins? So far as I can learn many physicians who have used this method have now given it up as inadequate. There is also some danger to it.

Many women of 45 or so write in great distress, saying they have on their thighs tiny varicose veins which spread out like spiders or "sun-bursts". They want to know what they can do to get rid of these. I imagine that, with much effort, the little veins could be destroyed, but this would leave scars. It would seem best to leave them alone. I imagine it would be more trouble than it is worth to try to get rid of them. Besides, the only reason for getting rid of them is pride of appearance on a beach!

PSORIASIS

A large percentage of persons in this world suffer more or less from psoriasis, an inherited skin disease. Usually there are red patches which come around the elbows and knees, perhaps in the hair, or all over. These red patches are covered with little silvery scales.

As most persons with psoriasis soon find out, any good skin specialist can usually clear up the situation for a while, but later the disease is likely to flare up again. The usual treatment is with medicines made from tar and, in addition, the doctor may use ultraviolet rays. The disease can become so chronic and resistant that at times no one can do much with it.

Occasionally, with psoriasis, the patient will get an arthritis in some of his joints, or he may get trouble with his finger nails and toe-nails.

CATARACTS

Many persons who dread an operation for cataracts want to know if the situation can be controlled by eye drops or by any medicine. So far as I know, there's no hope now that this can ever be done. A cataract is a lens which has become opaque and frosted, and the only thing to do is to get it out. Fortunately, the operation, performed by an expert takes only a few minutes, and usually the person is left with good sight. He should not be afraid of the operation, and certainly he should not go to quacks who will promise him results with medicine. A quack will promise anything just so long as he gets his pay in advance!

$5,000 Profit Seen In Lions Bulb Drive

Profit on the "bag of bulbs" campaign of the Victoria Lions Club and local scout groups is expected to be about $5,000, according to campaign chairman E. A. Estlin.

Canvassers are selling orders for $2 bags containing nine light bulbs and deliveries are made within a week. Proceeds are going to Lion charities and also helping to pay expenses for 42 district scouts and seven scout leaders attending the jamboree at Niagara Falls, Ont., in August.

To date 1,000 bags have been delivered and $2,000 collected. Canvassing and deliveries will be completed by June 18.

'Trooping' By Canadians Draws Praise

MONTREAL (BUP) — Part-time soldiers in two of Canada's guards regiments were lauded today for their "brilliant" performance of a 400-year-old color trooping ceremony traditionally staged by the British guards to celebrate the sovereign's birthday.

Governor-General Vincent Massey represented Queen Elizabeth in the Saturday ceremony that was watched by 15,000 persons in Molson Stadium and possibly 1,000,000 more on television.

Because Britain's railway strike tied up transportation there, films of the "trooping" in Canada probably will be all that Britons get to see this year of the ceremony that is staged annually by the Grenadier Guards.

In Montreal, it was handled in 80-degree heat by bearskin-helmeted, red-coated reservists in the Canadian Grenadier Guards and the Governor-General's Foot Guards. Most drilled in their spare time to attain near-perfection.

The Montreal Gazette said editorially that the Canadian guards regiments handled the job "with all the smartness and intricate precision for which the London ceremony is so justly famous."

'Ideological' Theatre Opened By MRA

Buchman Marks 77th Birthday

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — The final session of the Moral Re-Armament world assembly was held Sunday with its founder, Dr. Frank Buchman, as chairman.

Dr. Theodor Oberlander, West German cabinet member, described the new MRA building here as "the first theatre in the West dedicated solely to an ideological purpose."

"I hope soon every theatre in the world will give men the ideological training they need and not just entertainment," he said.

John Tigert, head of the service department of Pan American World Airways in Miami, Fla., said:

"Industry's responsibility in the ideological age is to produce an answer to the class struggle. America stands at the crossroads. Moral re-armament gives the chance to go ahead and fulfill our destiny and give an answer to the world."

More than 1,200 people from 31 countries attended the assembly.

Dr. Frank Buchman celebrated his 77th birthday Saturday.

Hundreds of messages and greetings were sent Buchman from heads of government, political and labor leaders, industrialists and Hollywood movie figures.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Germany cabled: "I send you my heartiest wishes. May you long continue to advance the mighty purpose of your life which is serving to bring peace to mankind."

Other messages came from Chancellor Julius Raab of Austria, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, President Magsaysay of the Philippines, and Field Marshal Pibulsongram of Thailand.

ROBERTA PETERS

Opera Star At Royal Wednesday

One of the loveliest effects in the realm of vocal music is achieved when a fine coloratura soprano voice combines with the flute in ethereal lace-like patterns of pure sound.

Such a treat is in store for Victoria music lovers, Wednesday night, when Roberta Peters, diminutive, lovely star of the Metropolitan Opera who stunned New York critics three years ago with her unscheduled debut in "Don Giovanni," appears in concert at the Royal Theatre.

In addition to Warner Bass, one of the American continent's most famed piano accompanists, Miss Peters is bringing with her, flautist Samuel Pratt, who will perform obligatos, amongst other numbers, "Caro Nome" and "Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark."

MEMORABLE

To anyone who has heard the exceptionally beautiful voice of Miss Peters on radio or TV, this concert seems likely to prove one of those forever memorable occasions.

Her program follows:

My Mother Bids Me Sing My Hair... H. Hayden
Not All My Tears... H. Purcell

QUITS HUSBAND—ARTISTICALLY

Bergman Will Be Directed By Frenchman in New Film

SANTA MARINELLA, Italy (UP) — Screen actress Ingrid Bergman said today that she and her movie-director husband, Roberto Rossellini, have come to an artistic parting of the ways.

The blonde Swedish star said she will appear in a French production to be directed by Jean Renoir, starting early next September. The picture will be filmed in France.

The former Hollywood star said, with a smile, "We are splitting artistically, my husband and I—but only artistically. I wish you to make that very clear. Roberto just could not find a part which he wished me to act in. During a visit to Paris, Renoir showed him a script which the son of the famous

Czech Flier Draws Applause At Toronto Show

TORONTO (CP) — A Czechoslovakian pilot, flying the only aircraft at the Canadian International Air Show from an Iron Curtain country, won the single round of applause Saturday from the estimated 150,000 spectators.

Fourteen Russian delegates, first official representatives from the country to attend the annual demonstration, were seated in a stand reserved for special guests. Test pilot Ladislav Svab, 42, of the Motokov Company, Czechoslovakia, demonstrated a two-seat, low-wing elementary trainer of a type used by the Czech Air Force. Svab looped, rolled, stall-turned and pulled out of a steep dive 100 feet above the waters of Lake Ontario off west-end Toronto.

During one inverted flypast, about 300 feet above the water, he made the craft rock up and down. It was at this point the spectators broke into the only applause of the show.

Wing Cmdr. R. W. McNair, the RCAF's most decorated pilot and official commentator for the show, described Svab's aerobatics as the most impressive he had seen.

In all, 101 aircraft—mostly from Canada and the U.S.—took part.

A highlight of the show was a formation of 50 RCAF jets—18 Avro CF-100s, 16 F-86 Sabres and 16 T-33 Silver Stars.

Burns, Hero Of Chain Gang Escape, Dies

EAST GRANGE, N.J. (AP) — Robert Elliott Burns, 65, author of the book "I Was a Fugitive from a Georgia Chain Gang," died Sunday night.

Burns was sentenced to prison for six to 10 years in 1922 for a $5 holdup in Atlantic, Ga. He said he was hungry and jobless when he accompanied a flophouse acquaintance on the grocery store robbery.

After two months on a chain gang he escaped. Seven years later he was a $20,000-a-year magazine editor in Chicago.

In 1929 he was returned to Georgia after his first wife informed authorities. Despite pleas for a pardon, he was returned to prison. The following year he again walked off the chain gang and went to New York where he wrote the book which was later made into a motion picture.

Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia, who eliminated chain gangs in his state, appeared as counsel for Burns in 1945 when he went before the Georgia parole board voluntarily and had his prison sentence wiped out and his civil rights restored.

New French Tri-Jet Hits 1,000 MPH

PARIS (AP) — A new French jet interceptor was reported today to have reached a speed of between 750 and 1,000 miles in horizontal flight over an airfield 30 miles south of Paris.

A spokesman at the air ministry said the reports, published in all Paris papers today, were "basically true."

The prototype plane, called the Trident SO-9000, is powered by two jets—one at the tip of each wing—and with three rockets at the tail.

The performance Saturday was made with the use of only two rockets, it was reported. With its three rockets, the Trident is expected to reach a speed of about 1,125 miles an hour.

Steelworkers Drive for Substantial Wage Increase

PITTSBURGH (AP) — With United States Steel Corp. as the initial target, the United Steelworkers (CIO) begin negotiating today with the American Basic Steel industry for a "substantial wage increase."

David J. McDonald, president of the 1,200,000-member union, and other union officials met a U.S. Steel committee headed by vice-president John A. Stephens.

McDonald said he plans to open negotiations with five other major producers immediately after talks get under way with Big Steel. He will head negotiations with all six firms.

The union's wage-policy committee instructed McDonald and other officials to seek a "substantial wage increase." Neither McDonald nor any other union official has defined "substantial."

Observers believe the union will open with a demand for 25 cents an hour. That is expected to be cut down to between 10 and 12 cents by agreement.

The union will be free to call for a strike at midnight June 30 if a settlement is not reached. Wages are the only issue up for discussion.

Steelworkers in the U.S. now earn an average of $2.33 an hour. The other five steel companies to meet the union in Pittsburgh are Bethlehem Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. and Inland Steel Co.

McDonald said he will press for a settlement with all six producers at once.

Most observers expect the union to get an increase. They also expect the booming industry to increase the price of steel to offset the cost.

Uraniums Get New Support

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were higher in most major sections to trading in more than a month at the Toronto stock exchange today.

Trading, which moved at the rate of a 10,000-share day in early afternoon transactions slowed a little in the last two hours.

Demand for uranium and lower-priced mining issues sent prices up sharply, reminding exchange officials of the uranium boom days earlier this year.

Individuals touched record index highs during the day. Individual issues among steels, motors, manufacturers and refining oils showed strength.

Increased buying among base metals toward the close pushed prices nearer another three-year index high. Golds were firm and western oils easier.

Giant General Motors led the list for the eighth straight year, boosting its budget 13.5 per cent to an all-time high of $37,391,415, said the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Two oil firms which broke into the exclusive list last year more than tripled advertising outlays. These were 36th-ranked Texas Company and 40th-place Gulf Oil.

Automotive advertising, which accounts for the largest single chunk of national ad dollars, rose 7.9 per cent last year to $139,861,000. This category includes such items as gasoline and tires, as well as new cars.

The food category, running second to the automotive, dipped 2.8 per cent to $129,446,000.

Hugh Libby, BCE superintendent of gas distribution, says a 12-inch pipeline across Burrard Bridge will be completed before the summer's end.

There's some hope Vancouver will receive natural gas as early as June, 1956. Suburban residents of Vancouver will be the first to benefit from the new source of supply. Conversion crews will work from the outskirts and work toward the heart of the city.

Leo Loses Touch

Giants Can't Find Key; Yanks Hold AL Margin

By The Associated Press

These are hard days for New York Giants. Leo Durocher, the master strategist, has lost the golden touch. The daring leader who always called for the right pitcher and the pinch home run in 1954 has misplaced the combination.

It seemed like old times Sunday when Dusty Rhodes smote a pinch single to win the opener from Chicago 3-2. Even if it wasn't a homer, it was enough to please the 18,431 customers. But the things that happened in the second game seldom happened in 1954. Jim Hearn was rolling along with a 1-0 lead, thanks to Bobby Hofman's homer, when, with two out in the ninth, he slipped. A single by Ernie Banks and a walk to Dee Fondy meant trouble. When manager Stan Hack sent up Frankie Baumholtz to bat for his catcher, Leo called on Marv Grissom.

It seemed like old times Sunday when Dusty Rhodes smote a pinch single to win the opener from Chicago 3-2. Even if it wasn't a homer, it was enough to please the 18,431 customers. But the things that happened in the second game seldom happened in 1954. Jim Hearn was rolling along with a 1-0 lead, thanks to Bobby Hofman's homer, when, with two out in the ninth, he slipped. A single by Ernie Banks and a walk to Dee Fondy meant trouble. When manager Stan Hack sent up Frankie Baumholtz to bat for his catcher, Leo called on Marv Grissom.

Because Brooklyn also split two with St. Louis, dropping the first in 10 innings 9-4 and bouncing back to win the second 10-6, Giants didn't lose any ground. But they are 12 games back.

It was a day of splits for everybody except Milwaukee and Philadelphia. Milwaukee won the first game 5-4 but Phillies were on top 4-0 when the curfew stopped play in the seventh inning of their second game. They'll finish that one tonight. Pittsburgh shaded Cincinnati 7-6 on Ramon Mejias' ninth-inning single but Redlegs grabbed the second game 5-1 with little Jackie Collum going all the way.

YANKS WELL UP
In the American League Casey Stengel's New York Yankees were still four games ahead of Cleveland. Billy Hunter's inside-the-park homer in the 10th enabled Yanks to square matters with Chicago in the second game 3-2 after Jim Rivera's grand-slam home run and Dick Donovan's five-hit pitching won the first for White Sox 5-3.

Washington used Cleveland errors to thump Bobby Feller 6-4 but Indians caught up with Senators in the second 6-3 after losing three straight to the second division club.

Rookie Duke Maas of Detroit shut out Baltimore with three singles 10-0 in the first game. Orioles snapped a seven-game losing streak in the finale 6-5 as Cal Abrams rapped a two-run homer and a triple.

Kansas City won 5-4 and then lost to Boston 4-3. Hector Lopez' single in the 10th gave the As the first. Jackie Jensen threw out the tying run at the plate to save the decision for Red Sox in the ninth of the second.

PLENTY OF HOMERS
Home runs accounted for all but one run in Chicago. Andy Carey, Mickey Mantle and Hunter homered for Yanks in the second and Chico Carrasquel for Sox. In the first game Rivera and Sherman Lollar of Chicago and Carey and Gil McDougald of Yanks connected for homers.

Vic Wertz hit two and Bobby Avila one for Cleveland in their losing first game when a leaky defense proved costly for the tribe. Al Smith's triple with the bases full featured Indians winning rally in the second game.

City Booters Beaten; Shores Crowd Leaders

Victoria City slipped another notch down the Coast Soccer League ladder at Vancouver Saturday when they bowed to North Shore, 4-1.

At the same time Shores climbed to within one point of first-place New Westminster Royals.

City opened with Shores for the opening half and had two great chances through centre forward Ken Hibbert. Hibbert shot straight at goalie Joe Travis on one try and was wide of the net on the other.

Then to start the second half Ab Travis shot wide on a rebound when Hibbert had hit the

A Lesson From the Old Master

Archie Browning, one of the greatest scorers in the history of the Intercity Lacrosse League, takes on a new role tonight when he leads his Junior Shamrocks in their first game of the Intercity Lacrosse League. The Junior Shamrocks will take on Mount Pleasant Indians at Memorial Arena at 8.30 tonight. In preparation, coach Browning demonstrates the shot that won him repeated scoring honors in his playing career. ## Sam's Putts Dropping; Eyes U.S. Open Jinx

By WILL GRIMSLEY

GREAT NECK, N.Y. (AP) — Sam Snead has adopted a new putting technique which may crush his longtime jinx in the U.S. open golf championship.

"I'm not making any predictions about San Francisco but I'm putting better than anytime I can remember," the hard-luck West Virginian said today. "I feel real good."

Putting, once the source of all of Sam's golfing woes, plus brilliant iron play carried Snead to a runaway victory in the round-robin golf tournament Sunday at Deepdale — his fourth title in the event.

He climaxed the five-round weekend with a record-breaking 65. This gave him a total of 46 points — 24 over his closest pursuer in the 16-man field, Johnny Palmer, who finished with plus 22.

His real mastery was over the five- and six-foot putts — the kind he used to miss.

He had six birdies and four of them came of putts of this length.

NEW TECHNIQUE

"I've changed my way of putting," Snead explained. "I now forget the hole entirely. I spot putt. That is, I pick a spot a few inches in front of my ball and aim for that instead of the hole."

"I practised this down home (White Sulphur Springs, W.Va.) I tried 30 putts from 10 feet and sank 28 of them. Then I changed my line to a point I'd have to putt over a little hump. This time I sank 25 out of 30."

Snead leaves Tuesday for San Francisco to prepare for the open June 16-18 — the big one he's never won. He was runner-up three times, blew another when he took an eight on the final hole and missed a 31-inch putt in a playoff with Lew Worsham in 1947.

Sam played superb golf at Deepdale, finishing the 90 holes at 339 — 11 under par.

Snead's first-place prize was $3,000 with $2,000 going to runner-up Palmer. Peter Thomson of Australia, the British open champion, was third at plus 19, followed by Marty Furgol, plus 11; Doug Ford, plus two, and Masters Champion Carey Middlecott and Ted Kroll, even.

U.S. Pair Triumphs

PARIS (AP) — Davis Cup champions Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas of the United States Sunday won the French international tennis tournament doubles by defeating Italy's Orlando Sirola and Nicola Pietrangeli 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

In the women's doubles Americans Darlene Hard and Beverly Baker Fleitz of the U.S. won 7-5, 6-8, 13-11 over Britain's Pat Ward and Shirley Bloomer.

Canadian Record

MONTREAL (CP) — A 17-year-old athlete from the high school of Montreal shattered the Canadian interscholastic record for the discus throw Saturday and retained for his school the Dominion Interscholastic track and field championship.

Maurice Limonchik, a dark, thick-set youth nicknamed "Moose" by his schoolmates, heaved the disk 129 feet, 10 1/2 inches to beat the old mark of 125 feet, 2 1/2 inches.

Tom Cooper opened scoring for Shores at five minutes of the second half. Gordie Ion scored next on a penalty kick at nine minutes and Cooper got his second of three at 20 minutes.

John Pickburn tallied for City on a free kick from outside the penalty area five minutes later, but on the next rush down the field Shores consolidated victory when Cooper got his third goal.

WESTS KEEP BERTH IN SENIOR SOCCER

Victoria Wests assured themselves of another year in the Victoria and District Football Association first division by edging Duncan, 2-1, Saturday in the final game of their promotion-relegation series. Each team had previously won one contest.

Wests started slowly, trailing 1-0 early in the match, but scored at 26 minutes and 40 minutes of the first half for victory. Eugene Thorne scored for Duncan, while Ronnie Bland and Whitney Turner tallied for Wests. The final half was scoreless.

Top 'Gold Trail' Pros Enter B.C. Open Golf

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP) — The stage is being set at Vancouver Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club for what may be the most interesting golfing spectacle in British Columbia's history — the $15,000 B.C. Open, June 29.

It is expected to surpass in spectator appeal both last year's Canadian Open at Point Grey in Vancouver and the 1948 Canadian Open, also played at Shaughnessy.

An impressive list of American "gold trail" pros will be among the entries. The tourney is on the U.S. PGA circuit and will be supervised by the PGA tournament committee. This will be a contrast from last year's Canadian Open which featured only a handful of big names. The major tournaments were in the east in mid-summer 1954.

Heading the list of visiting money players is a raft of young pros who made names for themselves in the last few years as leading amateurs. Entered are former U.S. amateur champions Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa. Al Mengert, runner-up to 1952 amateur champ Jack Westland at Seattle, will also come here from his home in Mamaroneck, N.Y.

Veterans Ed Furgol, currently U.S. Open titleholder, and Ed "Porky" Oliver have indicated they will play here, and so have Fred Hamper, Jerry Barber, Bill Nary, Tommy Bolt, Doug Ford and Dave Douglas. Also on the list are Dow Finsterwald of New Bedford, O., who won his first major tourney when he took the $15,000 Ft. Wayne Open, and Dick Mayer who won the Kansas City Open.

Runs 100 Yards in 9.1
ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Bobby Morrow, Abilene Christian freshman, bettered the 100-yard dash world's record by two-tenths of a second Saturday night with a seven-mile-an-hour wind at his back.

Morrow's time of 9.1 seconds won't be put up for certification as a record because of the wind.

Koch Takes Title
NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (BUP) — Bob Koch, a former hockey player with the New Westminster Royals of the Western Hockey League, was the surprise winner of the New Westminster city amateur golf championship yesterday.

Koch finished the 27-hole tournament five under par with a 103 total, three shots ahead of Marine Drive's Bob Kidd.

Martell Sets Mark
EDMONTON (CP) — Henry Martell, professional at the Highlands Golf Club, set a course record Saturday with an eight-under-par 64.

Playing in connection with the National Golf Day tournament, Martell racked up seven birdies and two pars on the back nine for a score of 30. He had two birdies and a one-over-par on the first nine.

GEORGE RODEL DIES
NEW YORK (AP) — George Rodell, heavyweight boxer in the days of Jess Willard and Gunboat Smith, died Sunday after a lengthy illness. He was 67.

CHAMPS HERE

Junior Irish Tackle Tough foe

Victoria Junior Shamrocks have picked a tartar for their first game of the 1955 Intercity Junior Lacrosse League season. The Junior Irish, coached by Archie Browning, will take on Mount Pleasant Indians tonight at Memorial Arena at 8.30.

And it just happens that the Indians are defending Canadian champions being current holders of the Minto Cup. They lost but one game last year in regular season and playoff competition and have lost but one this year.

Coach Browning has a powerful club to work with and has three players who have seen action with the senior Shamrocks. In goal will be Dave Unwin, former Shamrock goalie, or Don Hamilton. Al Davies, a regular in the senior league, will be at a defence post and one of the forwards will be Ed Longpre, who had a brief stint with the senior Rocks last year.

Other veterans of minor lacrosse include Ed Kowalki, Ross Roskamp, Bob Showers, Doug Hambrough and John Makowski.

Baseball Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago White Sox today announced they have traded pitcher Harry Dorish to Baltimore Orioles for catcher Les Moss in a straight player deal.

Dorish, 32, a righthander, has appeared this season in 13 games and has pitched 17 innings for a 2-0 mark.

Doug Gilmour's two three-run homers in the third and fourth innings led Kinsmen to their eighth win of the season in American Little League action at Little League Park Sunday.

Gilmour's round trippers, plus a three-run error in the first inning, gave Kinsmen a 13-8 victory over Lions, despite Richard Brown's feat of striking out 14 Kinsmen.

In the National League game Sunday, Paul Pearce bested Dave Murdoch in a mound duel as Rotary nudged Odd Fellows, 3-1. Pearce allowed three hits and struck out four, while Murdoch allowed six hits and whiffed 10.

TIMBERMEN STALLED; MEET IRISH WEDNESDAY

Nanaimo Timbermen's bid to make up ground on Victoria Shamrocks in the Intercity Lacrosse League race founded on a ferry breakdown Saturday night.

Vancouver Pilseners, scheduled to play in Nanaimo, were unable to make travel arrangements when the ferry Chinook suffered a breakdown.

A capacity crowd of Nanaimo fans went home disappointed.

However, the Timbermen get a better chance this week when they meet the Rocks at Memorial Arena Wednesday night.

It will be the third meeting between the two clubs. Shamrocks won the first two.

Kerr Leads In City Golf

Laurie Kerr of Royal Colwood took the lead in the City Amateur golf championships Sunday at the suburban Colwood Club.

The former assistant professional shot a 36-hole score of 143 to hold a four-stroke margin over clubmate George Andrews at the halfway mark of the 72-hole medal test.

The final 36 holes will be played at Colwood next Sunday.

Kerr was one over par with a 71 on the morning round, the same score as turned in by Andrews. Kerr had a 72 in the afternoon while Andrews jumped to a 76 for a 36-hole total of 147.

Five strokes behind Andrews and nine strokes off the pace are four players including PINGA champion Bob Fleming of Gorge Vale, who had a 77-75-152.

The others are Gorge champion Dave Fanthorpe, 72-80; Frank Scroggs of Uplands, 72-80; and Colwood's Ted Colgate, 77-75, all with 152 totals. Defending champion Bob Morrison took a pair of 77s for a 154, one stroke behind Duncan's Gordon Whan who had a 77-76-153.

Pre-tourney favorite Bill McColl, Island open and Cowichan Open champ, had one of his bad days, and is virtually out of the running with a 157. McColl had an 83 in the morning and 74 in the afternoon.

Colwood played level in Sunday's test, no golfer breaking par even on a nine-hole tally.

Kerr went one over on the morning round with bogeys on eight and nine after being one under at the eighth. He was back in par 35, thanks mainly to an eagle two on the 13th. He was over on 11 and 17. In the afternoon he had a 35-37.

Breakdowns Mar 'Stock' Race Program

Everything seemed to go wrong for most drivers at Western Speedway Saturday night. Accidents and breakdowns were numerous throughout the evening, with only eight of 19 starters finishing the 25-lap main event.

Phil Lambrick won the main event, edging out Jerry Sylvester after both cars had come to the fore at the 17th lap. Early leader Dave Francis was forced out with motor trouble, with spinouts and motor trouble sidelining other starters.

The trophy dash and heat races were also replete with misfortune. Dave Cooper won the trophy dash easily, but was forced out of the first heat with a broken drive shaft. Sylvester recovered from a rollover in the first heat to start the main event, with Terry Coitrol rolling over in the third heat.

Duncan Employment Level Remains High

Many Queries Regarding Pulp Mill Project; Lumber Shipments Reach Near-Record Pace

DUNCAN—A state of almost total employment exists throughout this area, and likely will continue throughout the summer, according to the month-end report of the National Employment Office.

Only a labor dispute or forest closure could cause a change in the employment picture, officials said.

Despite the buoyant employment situation, inquiries are being made by mail, telephone and personal call in connection with the Pulp mill project at Crofton announced by B.C. Forest Products Ltd.

Skilled loggers are not available, and farm help and hotel and restaurant workers are in short supply.

23 LUMBER SHIPS

Other activities in the district include the shipping of 800 boxes of clams from the district, representing a value of $2,500.

Lumber shipments from Chemainus and Crofton continued at a near record pace again last month when a total of 19,625,000 feet was loaded aboard 23 vessels from all parts of the world. Largest shipment was taken on by the S.S. Evi Livanos, a Greek vessel that loaded 2,042,000 feet at Crofton.

Exports to United States markets in May included six shipments of pulp chips, five to Port Townsend and one to Belingham, valued at $22,634.

End of Davis Rafts in Logging Seen in New Self-Unloading Barge Demonstrated Sunday

"Self-unloader" is barge with a list—on purpose—as $65,000 worth of logs hit the water at Esquimalt.

Four thousand tons of logs, representing a $65,000 chunk of Vancouver Island's forest wealth, splashed into Esquimalt harbor Sunday afternoon to demonstrate the newest development in timber towing on this coast.

The logs entered harbor high and dry aboard Island Tug and Barge's new self-unloading log barge, Island Fir, towed by the tug Island Sovereign.

In 25 minutes elapsed time, from the moment unloading started until the logs were in the water being boomed, 750,000 board feet of timber was ready for the mill.

END OF DAVIS

Many towboatmen feel the self-unloaders spell the end of the famous Davis rafts which, for so many years, have moved millions of board feet through coastal waters.

And a B.C. Forest Products official who watched Sunday's operations said:

"These barges will be of inestimable value in developing our new West Coast Island forest management license."

Proponents of the self-unloaders claim speed, economy, and efficiency as their main virtues. The fact that logs are carried dry, not subjected to long periods in the water, is another plus factor.

The principle of operation is simple. Logs are loaded across the beam of the barge. On reaching their destination at the mill pond, valves are opened to let sea-water pour into tanks on either port or starboard side. The water induces a list up to 45 degrees; the logs slide off into the water, and the barge rights itself to 15 degrees automatically.

Then pumps remove the balance of the water from the tanks, and the barge is on even keel again, ready for another trip.

The speed factor adds up like this: Island Fir, which was towed in from Gold Harbor, Metchika, 190 miles from Esquimalt Harbor, took 32 hours for the trip... in weather which would have kept conventional tows in shelter.

Under ideal conditions, a Davis raft would require at least four days for the same tow.

The Island Fir was loaded in less than four days. To make up a Davis containing the same amount of timber would take two to three weeks.

And the barge, as mentioned above, shook off her cargo in less than half an hour. To break up and boom a Davis takes about five days.

But one of the main advantages of the self-unloaders, say towboat men, is the fact they can travel in weather which is impossible for raft towing. The barges tow at seven to eight knots; Davis rafts often move at not much over one knot.

Island Fir, which completed her first tow Sunday, is one of two coastwise tankers converted by Yarrows for Island Tug & Barge. Work on a third started today. Island Tug & Barge purchased seven tanker hulls in all, and all will be eventually converted as self-unloaders.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

All short, but not necessarily sweet.

That was pretty blame good coverage we gave the swim attempts in Saturday's paper, if we do say so as shouldn't. Don't know about the rest of the boys, but what's worrying me is, what will we do if someone actually makes it?

News dispatch from Amsterdam about CP Air Lines first polar flight says: "The giant airliner carried 37 dignitaries and newspapermen."

Hmmmm. Well, I suppose there is a difference.

Matter of fact, I knew a dignified newspaperman once. Very sad case. Wound up as a journalist.

Headline tells us: "Horse beats man at Landsdowne." This is news? Save the headlines for when man beats horse—at the two-dollar window.

Formula for popularity: when asked, always give your candid opinion.

And it's true we all like a man who comes right out and says what he thinks—when he agrees with us.

Add to your fund of useless knowledge: there is a small cafe in Ontario called the "Squat and Gobble."

See where some one took a tractor for a joy ride in the vicinity of Douglas Street. If they catch the culprit, he will be charged with careless plowing.

Cheerful note in the morning mail from an old and dear friend in another city:

"A Times arrived here last night and you still look as tho' you came right out of a Dick Tracy comic strip."

"If you really can't do anything about it, I have some very nice snapshots of you in my album which I will be glad to send you, and you can have a choice."

Yes, please. Send them along. Neki hokey?

I see our old friend Alan Young is leaving the television field for the motion pictures.

But never fear. You'll be seeing him again on TV—when his movies are old enough.

Note to new readers: Mondays aren't ALWAYS like this, just mostly.

N.Y. Banker Reports Remarkable Recovery In American Business in Recent Months

The theory of perpetual inflation as a means of sustaining prosperity was knocked out of a cocked hat today by a top-level official of the American Bankers' Association.

Dr. E. Sherman Adams, deputy manager of the ABA, New York, told the 50th annual convention under way here of the Oregon Bankers' Association a "remarkable business recovery" had been made in the United States in recent months.

This was achieved, he said,

Among First Wren Reserve Officers to sign up for a three-year hitch as regular members of the RCN is Lieut. Margaret Mackie, MBE, of Victoria. Change in status was announced at Ottawa today, with the explanation this is the first time Wrens have formed a permanent part of a Commonwealth navy. Lieut. Mackie entered the reserves in 1942, was commissioned in 1943, and took the first draft of Wrens to London that year. Four other Wren officers also changed status today. Ceiling for regular force Wrens is 35 officers, 365 in ranks.

Ferry Chinook Has Bad Day On New Run

Trouble dogged My Chinook Saturday, first day of its operation on the Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay run for Black Ball Line, forcing cancellation of morning and evening trips. The first trip was delayed through generator trouble, but a successful round trip was made at noon. Further mechanical trouble forced the vessel to stay at Horseshoe bay Saturday night, and caused cancellation of a Nanaimo la-crosse game when the Vancouver Pilseners were unable to make the crossing.

It was found on Saturday that the berths, tailored to fit Mr. Kahloke that started the run, will have to be altered to take the larger Chinook. At present only one end of the ferry can enter the passenger-car slip.

SMALL CAR, BIG HILL, REPAIR BILL

A freak accident on Mount Douglas Sunday afternoon resulted in a narrow escape for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Birmingham, 1015 Caledonia, when brakes on their small car failed.

Mr. Birmingham was able to crash it into a rocky bank and escaped uninjured. The car was not badly damaged.

The car had stalled in climbing the steep mountain grade and wouldn't start again. The driver managed to push it around till it was facing downhill. He let his wife out as a safety measure and began a descent. Then the brakes failed.

Bert, Pat Will Make New Strait Assaults

Thomas to Stay in City Until Next Try In July; Russell Plans August Attempt

Undaunted by their failure to swim the marrow-chilling waters of Juan de Fuca Strait Friday night, both Pat Russell and Bert Thomas are planning future attempts to conquer the unpredictable reach between Victoria and Port Angeles.

Miss Russell said this morning she is looking forward to renewing her trial in late August or early September, and now considers taking a full-time job here or in Vancouver instead of returning to university in the fall.

Thomas plans his next attempt, the third since he arrived here in March, for July. He will remain in the city.

PRACTISE SWIM

His next large-scale practise effort will be made from Race Rocks to Port Angeles, this week-end, weather permitting.

Earl Irwin, Tacoma, Thomas' new sponsor, is in the city for two days assisting with arrangements for the next swim.

Wednesday, Thomas, his wife Marion, and daughter Sharon Lee, will make a television appearance in their home town Tacoma, probably returning Thursday or Friday.

Miss Russell will make her final decision on whether to remain here for a year within two weeks. She would likely return to UBC to complete her arts course next year.

Purposes of remaining in Victoria would be to earn money for university and to be on hand for swim training.

BERT VISITS PAT

Pat, who spent Saturday and Sunday resting in Jubilee Hospital, was visited by Thomas.

Said Thomas of Pat's courageous try Saturday: "If anybody can beat that strait besides me, it's Pat Russell. She's a wonderful little girl."

Her time in the water was 7 hours 28 minutes and Thomas stuck it out for 10 hours 19 minutes. Neither were making progress against a strong tidal current aggravated later, while Thomas was still swimming, by wind.

Board Considers Labor Dispute At Cleaning Firm

Labor Relations Board met in special sitting at 11 a.m. today to decide legality of dismissal at Page the Cleaner Ltd. three months ago, when a number of employees were let out of their jobs.

Meanwhile, an information picket line protesting "unfair practices" of Page management, established at the time of dismissal, and maintained daily, was lifted Saturday evening pending decision of the board.

It is believed to be the longest placard campaign in Victoria labor relations history.

Members of the board and representatives of management and labor (TLC) were still in session at noon.

Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council organizing committee has charged that employees were discharged because there was movement afoot to organize a union.

Strait Speaking

(Pat Russell, the 18-year-old Vancouver girl who made a strong bid at swimming the Strait of Juan de Fuca last Friday night, wrote a daily column for the Times during her training period. Today she says goodbye to Victoria until August or September, when she will return to battle the frigid, tide-churned channel again.)

By PAT RUSSELL

I'm convinced the Strait of Juan de Fuca will be conquered.

One day the tides and winds will "get together" in a friendly manner, and that day the Mt. Everest of channel swimming will meet its master.

I'm convinced the conquest of Old Man Juan de Fuca—as in the conquest of Mt. Everest—will require the all-important "break" that only the weather can supply.

There'll never be a shortage of courage and stamina on the part of individuals, but in an assault of this nature, a little more is required. Lady luck must cast a friendly glance.

Until the day this combination comes along, Victoria will be the mecca of channel swimmers.

And no matter their success—or lack of it—these narrators will thrill to Victoria's hospitality and enthusiasm.

This warm-hearted acceptance of the strange breed known as channel swimmers undoubtedly will contribute to the downfall of the stubborn Strait.

Mind you, I'm full of respect for the Strait, but I can't help but think it won't be long before it is just another stretch of water which was finally beaten by a distance swimmer.

I just hope I can be the first to blaze the trail.

All I can say now is thank you Victoria. Thanks for everything. And I promise you I will return.

12-Year-Old City Boy Missing Week

Help Asked in Finding City Policeman's Son

An intensive police search is being carried out throughout Vancouver Island and the lower mainland for a 12-year-old city boy who has been missing from his home since last Tuesday.

Sought is Bradford Colli, 12, son of Constable and Mrs. Frank Colli, 2022 Richmond.

Police had not earlier revealed the fact that the boy was missing at the parent's request.

Now the parents are frantic. Bradford gave no indication that he planned to run away, but it is known that he spent last Tuesday night in Victoria.

He rented a bike from Robinson's, 1307 Broad, Wednesday morning after explaining that he needed a replacement for his paper route. He is a Times carrier.

PAPER CARRIER

Mrs. Colli says Bradford attended his grade six class at Oaklands last Tuesday, then set out on his paper route. He did not return home and Wednesday morning his parents found his bike on the lawn with a flat rear tire. His collection book was with it. It is thought he had about $5 with him.

Constable Colli reported the disappearance that day. District and RCMP police were notified. There have been no further clues, following the disclosure of the rented bike.

Bradford is freckled and small for his age. He is about four feet eight inches tall, weighs 80 pounds and his brown hair is crew cut. He has blue eyes. When last seen he was wearing a yellow shirt, rust jacket and blue jeans. He had brown shoes.

City detective office gives the rented bike's license number as 4080 and the serial number is 21978K. It is a maroon bike.

NOT IN TROUBLE The boy is a member of the Rotary Boys' Choir and is a Scout in the Third Victoria Troop. He has many friends and was not in any trouble at home. Mrs. Colli says he was in some small difficulty at school. But she feels that if he had run away, he would have returned by now.

He has no relatives on Vancouver Island. He attends Sunday School at First United Church.

Police circulars describing the youngster are being mailed to all law enforcement agencies in the search area.

His mother has appealed to anyone who may have information to please phone 4-1455. "He may be sick or hurt—please help us get our boy home," she said.

Newspapers Blamed In Drugstore Raids

Blame for drugstore hold-ups by drug addicts today was placed largely on the shoulders of newspapers by the manager of the Pharmaceutical Association of British Columbia.

Fred Fullerton, Vancouver, said newspapers headlined the black market price of narcotics stolen in hold-ups, rather than the actual store selling price, thus "putting ideas into the heads" of addicts.

He said Vancouver experienced "little trouble with addicts using phony prescriptions to obtain narcotics, but admitted it did happen from time to time."

Mr. Fullerton is here for the 64th annual convention of the Pharmaceutical Association of B.C. which gets under way at the Empress Hotel Thursday.

About 200 delegates are expected from the association's 1,100 members.

Among subjects to be discussed will be the sales tax and role of the druggist in civil defense.

SHORTAGE Mr. Fullerton said B.C. is suffering from a shortage of druggists.

"We could place another 50 right now."

It is an excellent field for women, and B.C. now has about 40 women pharmacists, he said.

Among those present for the convention is Miss Lynn Hilton, manager of the Clinic Dispensary, Vancouver, the only woman in Canada a member of a provincial pharmaceutical council.

The old idea that druggists make heavy profits on products, Mr. Fullerton termed a "glorious fallacy."

New drugs, he said, were always expensive, but prices dropped in time. Objections to prices were largely psychological.

"People resent paying for drugs as they dislike being sick."

SHOPPING GUIDE

Choose Gloves in Color And Type to Suit Needs

By PENNY SAVER

I once heard a statement concerning women's accessory gloves that made me stop and think. The general context was that they should be simple but expensive. I'm afraid, though, that this bit of advice needs some altering. The simple part I agree with, but I've discovered that manufacturers are making gloves of better material and fashion than ever before, and they're being presented to the public at wonderfully reasonable prices. For instance, you may now buy gloves in the ever-popular nylon, but it looks like suede. Others look like kid and calfskin. It's the weave used, I'm told. They're washable, and come in all the summer rainbow hues, at only $2 to $3 a pair.

If one who chooses to buy an all-purpose pair of gloves, a pair that one can wear with almost any outfit, these should be expensive. Lower-priced gloves are to be used as accessory gloves. That means they are varied, depending upon the particular color choice of that day and should not receive the abuse of being worn nearly every day, and possibly having to be washed every second or third day. It takes exceptional quality and material in the gloves to fit this need. A more expensive glove, in a color to meet and fit in with your favorite shades and tastes, may be worn several times a week with different ensembles.

I found a pair of French lace gloves in one of my favorite haunts the other day. They're soft as a kitten, and beautifully shaped, with inside seams. Around the shortie top of the gloves is a cut-away design that is hand bound. These are selling at $6.95 a pair... not nearly so high a price as some all-purpose gloves. Even if you'd find a couple of pair of these, you'll find that you really can afford them. The use and pleasure you will get from them is tenfold their price. The workmanship is excellent and you'll be proud of them. The color selection is surprising, too. In all pastels of the season, and many other smart designs, they'll appeal whatever your tastes.

Thought I'd sneak in a little note about some really funny all-occasion cards I saw this week. Whether it's birthday, anniversary, wedding, graduation, anything at all, there's an original and clever card just made for that someone special. Mind you, I'm counting on you to have a rather odd sense of humor to appreciate many of these specimens! You'll love them, they're so different. Moderately priced, too, from 15 cents to about 50 cents. Where are they? Just call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you.

AS WE LIVE

Activity Helps Give Perspective on Sorrow

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Worry can poison the mind as well as the body. Q.—Several months ago, you wrote an article about the harmful effects of worry. I read it at a time when I was so upset and unhappy I didn't know what to do or where to turn for help. It helped me so much that I am now writing to you for further help. Just before I read your article, my fiancée died. Needless to say, I was heartbroken. Now I am beginning to pull myself together but I need help. I thought joining a club would help me to forget. Don't you think I am making the right decision?

Hurlock

A.—You can't forget the man you loved and had planned to marry. However, you will be able to get a better perspective on your sorrow if you are with people and doing things to keep yourself from brooding. Sitting at home alone and thinking of what might have happened had your fiancée lived, will add to your grief and will help nothing. Joining a club would be splendid, but that alone is not enough. Most clubs meet once a week or once a month. You need some outside interests and activities every day, at least until you begin to see life in a new perspective. Join as many groups as you can, and make arrangements to see friends every day when you would otherwise be alone.

When you are alone, your are likely to worry and grieve. This will play havoc with your health, because worry upsets the normal functioning of every organ of your body. In addition, it will "poison" your thoughts and produce a bitter, resentful attitude which will be reflected in everything you say or do. This can be more damaging to your future than the bad effects of worry on your health.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Conquering a fear is one of the most exhilarating experiences a person can possibly have. There is nothing quite so rejuvenating as walking up to some thing, person or situation, which you have dreaded or feared, looking straight at it, saying "Boo," and turning on your heel and walking away.

I have made myself do this many times during my life, and the way it makes me feel is out of this world. Try it sometime!

Usually the person or the situation is not nearly so bad as you had supposed but even if it is, if you stand right up to it, it somehow seems to lose its power to frighten or worry you any more. Just shrug your shoulders and realize the consequences can't possibly be as bad as you had imagined.

And, of course, your little worries tend to disappear when you know what they are. A psychiatrist, for example, attempts to find out what is causing the trouble. He may find that it is rooted in a childhood experience. Once the cause of the trouble is uncovered it is much easier to conquer it.

There is no doubt about it, a psychiatrist offers expert advice and should be consulted if a person's fears are enough to make her physically and emotionally sick.

But it is possible to have fears without being actually neurotic or sick. They are little annoyances which we can well do, and should do without.

Most of you know what is bothering you, if you put your mind to it, but you do not face it. You just keep kicking it and yourself around. You probably know, if you will face it, what it is that is nibbling at your energy, making you sleep poorly at night, generally putting a damper on living. Bring it out into the open!

People are very apt to fasten onto one big resentment or fear and stick with it even if it kills and ages them, and it will if they stay with it long enough. Then there are some who live in a constant state of uneasiness and worry. Maybe they had one or two big problems which have been solved, or solved themselves as most problems do, but the general attitude of worry has lingered on.

Don't do this to yourself, to your health and beauty, to those who love you! There is a fountain of youth, and lots of happiness, too, in the opposite approach.

Perfume That Clings

Q.—Dear Claire:

I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I want a new perfume but first I must find out about a lasting one.

—Mrs. J. M. A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not stay with them is Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily and lingers on and on because of its sachet base. The Chantilly fragrance really clings to you. I am sure you will love it! Get the original Liquid Skin Sachet Chantilly by Houbigant, "the perfume that clings." Also available in Quelques Fleurs fragrance. Only $2.00.

Spring flowers in shades of mauve and yellow to match bridesmaids' dresses formed the floral background. Lily of the valley marked guest pews. Organist was S. L. Biggs, and soloist, William Sims.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burdge, 818 Beckwith Avenue, and the groom, the son of Mr. H. Hampton, 928 Arm Street, and the late Mrs. Hampton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a bridal gown of net over satin with lace bolero featuring stand-up collar and long lily point sleeves. The front of the full skirt was

Fisher-Craigie Vows Heard Saturday in St. Matthias'

Miss Joyce Irene Craigie made a lovely picture as she entered St. Matthias' Church Saturday evening in a traditional white gown of net and satin, to become the bride of James Gilmour Fisher. Her floor-length gown was fashioned with a billowing skirt of embroidered tiers of lace, with a matching lace jacket. Rhinestones and seed pearls were set on the collar, and sleeves tapered into lily points at the wrists. Her three-quarter-length veil of tulle edged with French lace was caught to a pearl tiara. Baby orchids and lily of the valley were in her bouquet.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Craigie, 2250 Eastdowne Road, and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Fisher, 1309 Plateau Drive, North Vancouver.

Canon F. H. Tomalin officiated in the church decorated with spring flowers and lilac, and L. Partington, organist, accompanied H. B. Thomas, who sang "O Perfect Love." Matron of honor, Mrs. H. B. Thomas, sister of the bride, chose a full-length gown of turquoise nylon net over taffeta. The bodice was covered with white lace, and she wore matching stole and gloves. Her headband was of turquoise tulle, and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations. Bridesmaids, Mrs. D. F. Jenkins, wore a gown of yellow taffeta with scalloped neckline and overskirt of yellow nylon net gathered to a yellow velvet ribbon and tied in a bow, apron style. The bodice had a yoke of nylon net with yellow velvet. Her headband and gloves were matching, and she carried a colonial bouquet of mauve carnations.

The bride's little four-year-old niece, Joy Heather Morton, as flower girl, was dressed in a pink taffeta hooped-skirt frock with a set in nylon yoke. Beneath her hooped skirt she wore pink ruffled pantaloons. Matching pink gloves and floral headpiece of lily of the valley and baby pink roses completed her outfit. She carried a basket of lily of the valley and pink roses.

Best man was Mervin Coutts, and Harry Freed, Vancouver, and James G. Morton ushered guests to pews marked with white satin ribbon and lilac. Arthur Unwin proposed the traditional toast to the bride at the reception which followed in Seaman's Hall, Superior Street. A linen cloth covered table was centred with the three-tier wedding cake, decorated with pink rosebuds on white.

A mist of pink tulle dotted the cake and flowers were placed on either side. The hall was decked with many vases of spring flowers.

The newlyweds planned a motor trip through the interior of their honeymoon. The bride chose a charcoal grey suit with pink nylon blouse, pink gloves and hat, and purse and shoes in white snakeskin.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher will live at 1616 West Broadway, Vancouver.

Best man was Robert Hampton, brother of the groom, and ushers were Douglas and Jack Burdge, brothers of the bride.

A reception followed in the lower hall of the Gospel Hall, where mauve and yellow with white carried out the bridal entourage colors. H. C. Sheppard proposed the toast.

For a motor trip on the mainland, the bride chose for her going-away outfit, a grey-mauve suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Hampton will live at 4101 Glanford Avenue.

SAYS NEWS SLANTED

Rev. Joseph Whalley, RCN, was guest speaker. He spoke of the need of a Catholic press to balance what he described as deliberate slanting of news to meet the policy of secular papers. Dr. A. M. Zorkin in his address, referred to resolutions

Rock Wall Plants Become Untidy Without Shearing

The more commonly grown plants which clothe rock walls and sloping banks with gay masses of color in spring are now due for some attention. Without it, the plants become straggly, untidy all summer, and produce fewer flowers the following year.

Alyssum saxatile, the mustard yellow of the beginner's rock garden, should be sheared back an inch or so below the flower stems. A less violent alyssum is A. citrinum, a soft creamy butter shade, just as easy to grow and pleasanter to live with.

The purples, mauves and pinks in many named varieties, are contributed by the aubretias. Shearing them after flowering will keep them from encroaching on less rampant neighbors.

CUT BACK

The chalk white single or double arabis will soon become a tangle of woody stems if left to its own devices. Flowers will appear only on the outer edges, the rest being unattractively bare. Cutting back each season after flowering prevents this.

Other plants which will require the same attention later during the summer are Iberis, the perennial candytuft; aethionema, sometimes called "burnt candytuft"; Gypsophila repens, creeping baby's breath; and Helianthemum vulgare, the single and double sun roses in many delightful shades of rose, salmon and crimson.

The worst offender to admit to a rock wall or garden is Cerastium tomentosum, known variously as mouse ear on account of the fine hairs on the tiny silver leaves. Jerusalem star for its five-pointed small white flowers, and snow-in-summers for the fact that it will cover an area in no time at all. But it does not disappear as rapidly!

This plant seeds freely, and the best control is to recognize it and refuse it admittance to the garden.

By Panama Canal the distance is about 50 miles, but it is 7,873 miles around South America.

The pleasant chewing satisfies that "little hungry feeling" and helps keep your figure neat and trim!

Canadian Welfare Workers Pattern for Whole World

MONTREAL (CP)—An eminent United States priest says Canadians are setting a fine example in welfare work all over the world.

Msgr. John O'Grady of Washington, D.C., secretary-general of the National Conference of Catholic Charities, said in an interview he had seen Canadians in many countries, at international meetings and in connection with refugee work.

"Wherever I have met them—in Africa, in Europe or in India—I have been most impressed with the methods and approach which they have adopted," he said.

Msgr. O'Grady, also vice-president of the International Federation of Catholic Charities, was here to attend a dinner given him by the Federation of Catholic Charities. He said he was impressed by the way Canadians opened and operated missions in Africa and by the method the immigration problems are being handled.

Turning to juvenile delinquency, Msgr. O'Grady said certain turbulent forces are set in motion when people, unaccustomed to city life, move to big urban centers.

Youngsters growing up in these areas sometimes become confused and delinquent results.

"But I feel the actual number of juvenile delinquents has been exaggerated in some places," he said.

Social problems should be tackled in the neighborhoods where they occur and people should be encouraged and helped to solve their own difficulties, he said.

Social workers in American cities can learn much from "so-called underdeveloped countries in Asia" where the potentialities of the people to help themselves and one another had been realized.

It is therefore necessary for many social workers to revise their thinking, Msgr. O'Grady said.

Servicemen To Compete In 'Games'

Biggest program of Highland games ever staged in Victoria is expected to take place at Royal Athletic Park July 30, when servicemen of three services are slated to compete.

President Alex MacLeod Baird, Victoria Highland Games Association, says seven pipe bands from Vancouver, Seattle and the Island will attend and dancing events also will be extended.

Track and field competitions held formerly at Chilliwack by the army, navy and air force have been transferred to Victoria and a full slate of entries is expected in each event. Highland events will include the shot put, hammer throw, discus and caber throw and a greasy-pole climb.

Local facilities for track meets were criticized by Mr. Baird. "Victoria could have the biggest meet in the Northwest, if it wasn't for our lack of decent facilities."

The games here follow the Vancouver event and are a week previous to the Seattle games.

"We could easily lose the games to Nanaimo if our own facilities are not improved," he stated, with reference to Macdonald Park.

Nanaimo plans a new stadium with adequate seating facilities and a new track.

Curb-Hogs May Be Hit By New Plan

Downtown parking congestion may be eased by a new campaign against curb-hogs planned by city public works committee Friday.

Fines for meter violations will jump from $1 to $2.50 and some 30-minute meters will be installed, if council approves.

The move will make the penalty for overstaying meter time the same as for violating a one or two-hour limit space which is unmetred.

Public works chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell said the new plan is aimed at halting all-day parking in metered areas.

Five cents would be charged for 30-minute parking on Broad Street meters from Cormorant to Fort under the new scheme.

Public works committee will meet Monday to consider other traffic recommendations of the Chamber of Commerce.

WINDSOR Ont. (BUP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada wound up its 70th annual convention Saturday with a demand for a $1 an hour minimum wage and an eventual 30-hour work week.

A resolution calling for a federal law establishing a minimum $1 per hour wage was passed in the closing hours of the convention. It raised the TLC's previous demand for an $3 cents-an-hour minimum.

The 30-hour week demand clarified a resolution passed earlier in the week which sought federal enactment of a 40-hour week law with a later goal of 35 hours per week. Executives explained that the 35-hour week was an "intermediate goal" but a six-hour work day, five days a week was the ultimate object of the congress.

The TLC also went on record as favoring equal pay for equal work regardless of sex. Earlier, after hearing resolutions from local and regional union organizations and a special committee report, the Congress agreed to continue its effort to secure union recognition and better wages and working conditions for civil servants.

Postal employees were cited as especially severely affected on the basis of wage and other factors "even in relation to other civil servants."

Alterations in mail train service and delays in the postal service resulting from a reduced schedule and one-day residential deliveries were strongly censured by TLC delegates.

Executives of the Congress remained in Windsor over the week-end clearing up the work of the convention, which probably was the last general assembly of the TLC in its present form.

Assuming the Canadian Congress of Labor, as its president, A. R. Mosher, has predicted, matches the unanimous vote of the TLC delegates last Wednesday, the next major labor convention in Canada will be that of a new Canadian Labor Congress formed from a merger of the TLC and CCL.

Ford Workers Win Guaranteed Wage

Hitchhiking in Style in London

People lucky enough to hitch a ride on a truck going their way scramble aboard as British transportation is still paralyzed by rail strike. For many others it may mean a long walk home as buses are unable to handle traffic. No settlement is in sight.

Rail Workers Reject Eden's Strike Plea

Ship Stewards' Walkout Adds To U.K. Woes

LONDON (AP)—Britain's striking railway workers today rejected Prime Minister Eden's back-to-work plea.

Their leaders accused the Conservative chief of getting a lot of his facts about the strike wrong. They said his radio appeal did nothing to change the situation in the dispute, now nine days old.

Eden warned in a broadcast Sunday night that the strike of 67,000 locomotive engineers, firemen and engine cleaners is pushing Britain toward an economic smash.

He appealed to the strikers to go back to work, then start negotiations again on their claim for a pay differential.

But Noel Pinches, president of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, said nothing to change the situation in the dispute, now nine days old.

B.C. GAS LINE CHANGES APPROVED IN OTTAWA

OTTAWA (BUP)—The board of transport commissioners today granted Westcoast Transmission Company Ltd. an extension to Oct. 31, 1957, for construction of a $162,000,000 gas pipeline from the Peace River through the interior of B.C. to the U.S. border near Vancouver.

Permission to increase the diameter of the main pipeline from 24 to 30 inches also was given.

Elimination of lateral lines to Kamloops and Vancouver, and of a line from Brookmere to Osoyoos was authorized. Supplying of gas to these areas will be taken over by B.C. Electric and Inland Gas Ltd.

'YOU CAN'T DO THAT TO US'

80 Women Descend On Cabinet Members

More than 80 women crammed into the provincial cabinet chamber today to demand immediate government approval of a 50-bed hospital at Surrey in the Fraser Valley.

The government has approved the hospital "in principle," but has given construction priority to hospital expansion at White Rock, Burnaby, and New Westminster.

The ladies have the backing of Speaker of the House Thomas Irwin, the Social Credit M.L.A. for Delta, who at one stage in the controversy charged that BCHS was ignoring the need for small hospital units, to construct "monuments" to the BCHS "bureaucracy."

According to RCMP the body had been in the river about three weeks. Col. J. H. Boyd, coroner, has been notified, and remains are at the Hirst Funeral Chapel, Duncan, pending an inquiry.

Beers was employed at HMC Dockyard until April 1, and had last been seen May 16 while visiting friends in the Lake Cowichan district.

The body was found by Steven O'Donohue, of Edmonton, who was fishing in the river and saw the remains on a small island near the village.

Surviving are his widow and children at Sidney.

Still missing is Thomas Ross, 45, Victoria painting contractor, who failed to return from a fishing trip to the mouth of the Cowichan River May 24.

Kelowna Man Aboard Plane Lost in B.C.

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—The air force began the third day of a search for a missing single-engine plane in British Columbia today.

The air-sea rescue squadron here said two RCAF Dakotas took off from the Sea Island base at 9 a.m. to look for the missing aircraft which was due at Vancouver from Princeton, B.C., Friday night.

The two Dakotas returned to their base Sunday night after failing to find any trace of the lost plane.

The tiny aircraft was piloted by Peter Fuhrman of Weyburn, Sask., with Jack Marshall of Kelowna, B.C., as his only passenger.

Plant Moved Down

'Scrap Army' Repercussion

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Campney announced today that Air Vice-Marshal John L. Plant, chief of RCAF Technical Services, has been removed from his present position because of statements he made in a speech at Toronto last Thursday.

He told the Commons that the statements by Air Vice-Marshal Plant "were highly inappropriate."

The air vice-marshal was quoted as saying the army should be scrapped to make more manpower available for a stronger air force.

Also attributed to him was a remark that a worldwide atomic war appears inevitable and that the western powers are "keen, anxious and willing" to go to war against the Russians whenever they want to attack.

"RELINQUISHES" POSITION
Mr. Campney said Air Vice-Marshal Plant has been asked to "relinquish" his position as chief of RCAF technical services. He has been appointed chief of the RCAF's air material command, with headquarters in Ottawa.

The new positions, Mr. Campney said, would remove Air Vice-Marshal Plant from any association with tri-service policy matters.

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Hon. R. O. Campney, minister of national defence, late over the recent rash of statements by high-ranking officers infringing on government policy, has written a sharp directive ordering an end to such breaches of the Queen's Regulations. It is the second such directive in the past year. The first was not sent.

One year ago, when Brooke Claxton was minister of national defence, in June, 1954, a similar directive was prepared when Lt.-Gen. Guy G. Simmonds made a comment regarding the need for universal military service. The comment was widely reported and raised questions in parliament.

After hearing Gen. Simmonds' explanation, Mr. Claxton decided against sending out the directive that had been prepared.

The second directive which Monday was being prepared by Mr. Campney definitely will be sent, informed sources said. They described the minister as "annoyed and irate" over the statements attributed to A.V.M. Plant and never denied.

The high-ranking air officer made several statements when he addressed the Aviation Writers' Association in Toronto that have aroused members of parliament to demand explanations from the minister.

These facts have been ascertained by the minister:

(1) The speech was a sparkling after-dinner address that had the officer's audience laughing uproariously and which in some sections was designed to be humorous and not taken seriously.

(2) Regardless of the fact the speech was supposed to be humorous the air vice-marshal made statements that had other air force members in the audience perturbed and surprised at their frankness and bluntness.

(3) Majority of the audience was made up of writers from the United States who commented afterwards that the speech was so "witty" that A.V.M. Plant had missed his calling and should have been a humorist such as Bob Hope.

(4) A.V.M. Plant was in the Royal Canadian Air Force uniform of his rank when he made the speech.

HENRY FORD II ... bows to CIO.
WALTER REUTHER ... General Motors next.

"THERE'S A FORD IN GM'S FUTURE," quipped CIO's Walter Reuther today as he began a 24-hour "holiday" before tackling giant General Motors for the semi-annual guaranteed wage plan he won today for Ford's 140,500 workers. CIO contract covering GM's 325,000 auto workers runs out Tuesday.

Esquimalt Butcher Killed in Roof Fall

12-Foot Drop From Carport Roof Fatal To Arthur Luck; Was Helping Brother

A home-building accident Sunday claimed the life of a young Esquimalt butcher, Arthur Luck, 740 Middleton.

Losing his footing while helping his brother roof a carport at 240 Grange, he fell 12 feet to a cement floor.

The accident happened at about 2:15 p.m.

Arthur Luck and his brother, Harry, had been working about two hours on the project. Both were at the peak of the carport roof. Arthur apparently stepped back, missed his footing and fell between two open ceiling joists. He landed on his back on a cement floor.

HEAD INJURIES
He was semi-conscious when taken to hospital and died three hours later from head injuries.

The accident victim was self-employed as butcher at Field's Grocery, 899 Esquimalt. He had lived here with his mother and sister since 1953. Previously he had a shop at Chemainus.

PLAYED GOLF
The deceased was a member of the Colwood Golf Club and was an ardent golfer. He had played 18 holes on Sunday morning before going to his brother's home.

Born in Hannah, Alta., he was a naval veteran. He was a member of the Legion, Rotary and the Masonic Lodge at Chemainus.

Police said it was not likely an inquest will be held. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Sands Mortuary Ltd.

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—A Canadian National Railways passenger train bound from Edmundston to Moncton jumped the tracks near here today and first reports said the fireman was missing in the wreck and 10 persons were hurt.

26-Week Maximum In Lay-Off Pay Part of 20c Hike

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Company and the United Auto Workers (CIO), reached agreement today on a guaranteed wage plan and other contract terms.

The settlement was expected to halt widespread walkouts that made idle 68,000 of Ford's 140,000 workers across the United States in the last 12 hours.

The guaranteed wage plan is the biggest ever negotiated in American industry.

It may set the pattern for the entire automotive industry and perhaps other basic industries.

Armed with the Ford agreement the UAW went back to the bargaining table with General Motors today to press for a contract settlement there. The GM contract expires Tuesday.

Walter Reuther, president of the UAW, emerged from a conference grinning and told reporters: "Well, we've got an agreement, fellows. It's a good agreement."

Reuther called it "the largest economic package we've ever negotiated." He said the "package" was worth in excess of 20 cents per hour per employee.

The average auto worker now earns about $2.10 an hour.

Reuther said the agreement provides a boost in Ford pensions to a maximum of $241 a month including social security. It also provides better hospital-medical benefits, he added.

"The Ford package contains the principles upon which we are going to build a guaranteed annual wage."

At a joint press conference, Reuther and John Bugas, Ford vice-president for industrial relations, congratulated each other and shook hands.

Bugas said Ford had agreed to go along with the guaranteed wage plans only after "a considerable internal debate" within the company.

"We think it is significant," Bugas said. "We think our plan will be particularly useful in the automobile industry."

Reuther was asked when he intended to enter the negotiations with General Motors.

"Well, boys," he said, "I'm going to get a day's rest and then go over to GM."

Bugas said he was particularly "proud" that the Ford agreement had been reached without a strike. He apparently meant a full strike, because some Ford plants had experienced walkouts.

"This has been one of the roughest and most complex bargaining sessions I've ever been in," Bugas said. "But I think it was well worth it."

As the settlement was announced, the UAW sent telegrams to Ford locals around the country asking them to call off any strikes that have begun or not to go through with any walkouts already planned.

The agreement is subject to ratification by the more than 50 Ford locals.
